League Of Nations Fight Breaks Out Again In Senate

IDAHO SOLON INTRODUCES RESOLUTION

Sen. James Pope Says Joining League Only Way to Keep U. S. Out of War

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(UP)—A brief flurry over the League of Nations was caused in the senate today by introduction of a resolution for American membership in the League.

The resolution was introduced by Sen. James Pope, D., Idaho, and brought a quick response from Sen. Hiram Johnson, R., Calif., foe of the League.

"I'll tell you how we can keep out of war," Johnson said. "We can keep out of war by minding our own business and precluding the possibility of being propagandized into Europe."

"I am thoroughly convinced that in this way, and in this way alone, can we enter the road to permanent and enduring peace," Pope said in introducing his resolution.

The resolution would authorize the president to notify the League that the United States would accept League of Nations membership with two provisions:

1. That the Paris anti-war pact would be recognized as a guiding principle of the covenant.
2. That the United States should be specifically exempted from any action involving use of armed forces in prevention of war, and that only the United States government should determine what action this country should take under such circumstances.

"The fear that the United States might be drawn into the quarrels of other nations and might be called upon to send soldiers to foreign soil, has never in the functioning of the League been justified," Pope said.

"It is clear that at no time would the United States have been called upon to participate in enforcement of any decisions of the League except in accordance with our own constitutional powers."

"It is my suggestion, moreover, that it be made clear in the resolution that the obligation to use armed force be assumed by this country except in accordance with the Constitution of the United States."

ILLINOIS JOBLESS ON HUNGER MARCH

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 7.—(UP)—Illinois unemployed staged a hunger march on the state capital today.

They carried with them a plan of their own for settling the state's unprecedented relief crisis, brought about by a stalemate between the Illinois legislature and the Federal Relief Administration.

State and city police mobilized reinforcements to keep order during the demonstration and the galleries of the state house of representatives were barred to spectators because of the possibility of rioting.

The delegates said they were members of the Illinois Workers Alliance, claiming a membership of 150,000, and included many women. Many were in tatters.

PLANNING COMMISSION WILL SUBMIT NEW ZONING PLANS TO SUPERVISORS SATURDAY

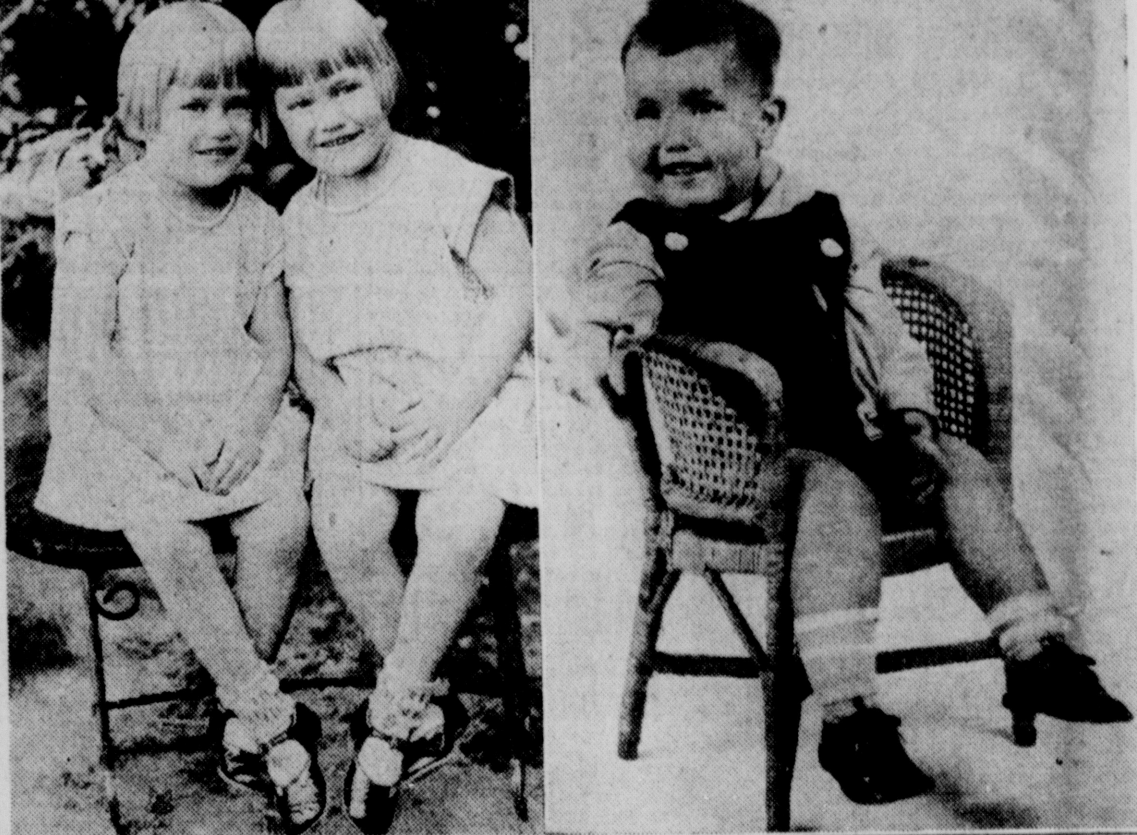

THE NEW county zoning ordinance, under preparation by the county planning commission during recent months, will be ready to lay before the county supervisors for their inspection next Saturday, it was announced today by Nat H. Neff, county highway superintendent and member of the planning commission.

A motion by Supervisor W. C. Jerome was passed by unanimous vote, assuring that the county will be presented at the approaching exposition. The appropriation, however, was made from the general fund, rather than the advertising fund, which had been previously indicated in some quarters as the probable source of the appropriation.

W. H. Spurgeon, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and W. E. Baker, member of the chamber committee on the fair exhibit project, appeared before the supervisors today to urge the action taken.

INNOCENT VICTIMS OF JAIL TRAGEDY

When Mildred Wells, lower left, hanged herself in the county jail last night, she left three children to mourn her loss. They are twin girls, Barbara and Betty, upper left to right and Gene. The two girls were living with their mother in Santa Ana but Gene is with his father, E. P. Parsons, in Los Angeles. The mother and father had been separated for several months.

King George Rests After Busiest Day

Reception to 600 Diplomats Only Official Event On For Today

LONDON, May 7.—(UP)—King George rested at Buckingham palace today while his London subjects went back to work but visitors from all over the world carried on their merriment and cleaners removed the debris from yesterday's celebration of the 25th year of his reign.

A day in which 3,000,000 saw him and Queen Mary go in state procession to St. Paul's cathedral for a thanksgiving service was succeeded by another night of merrymaking.

The celebration of the jubilee is to last three months. But today the king conserved his strength. He was obviously tired at the end of yesterday's program.

The only official event scheduled today was a reception to about 600 diplomats and other prominent persons by the prince of Wales at St. James' palace tonight.

Prime ministers of the dominions took advantage of the uneventful day to hold a meeting to discuss empire defense.

The meat "pitchers" in the great Smithfield meat market here provided a semi-discordant note in the jubilee by striking last night.

Butchers had to handle the meat for most of London's 8,000,000 people by themselves.

The pitchers used their time by continuing the jubilee celebration and standing by the market while cracking at the laboring employers.

The strike was settled amicably early this afternoon and the men agreed to resume work at midnight.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Lord Londonderry, air minister, flew over London in an airplane early today to see the illuminations and bonfires.

Just before lighting the fires, the king and queen appeared on a palace balcony for 12 minutes, and the crowd of 200,000 massed there still was cheering and singing the national anthem and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" when they re-entered the palace.

OFFICIAL OF FHA APPROVES HOUSING SHOW

THE FEDERAL Housing Administration came into the picture today as James Berry, FHA representative in charge of Orange county, added his strong endorsement of The Register's plans to stage the biggest housing exhibit and show ever held in this section.

Many other civic-minded leaders here heartily favor the plan. The exhibit will be in the American Legion hall on June 6, 7 and 8.

Berry said that he is heartily in accord with the plans outlined by The Register to create wide-spread interest in the housing program, which is expected to bring a great amount of increased business to Santa Ana and other communities in the county.

The FHA official declared that he not only favors but endorses movement of this kind which will bring about a new awakening of the public to the advantages that might obtain in accepting the financial assistance of the government in remodeling homes, buying new refrigerators and furnishings, building new homes and refinancing existing obligations on property.

The effort to be put forth by The Register is expected to surpass anything of its kind ever held here. The Legion hall will be divided into many booths which will be allocated to exhibitors.

There will be speakers of state and national renown. There will be music and fun, in addition to the serious business of aiding in the restoration of prosperity through building up the construction and allied industries.

Eight changes in the city hall construction plans for the new city hall, which include installation of an elevator and which will increase the cost by approximately $12,000, were approved by the Santa Ana city council last night.

These additions will bring the total construction cost of the new city hall building to approximately $126,000, and will be incorporated in the contract when they have been approved by the PWA.

As a grant from the Federal government, the city will receive $3,600 toward the cost of the additions approved last night, bringing the added costs to be borne by the city down to $8,400.

Eight changes in the city hall plans were approved by the council, the largest item being $5378 for building exterior walls at the northeast corner of the building past the second and third stories, to be unfinished inside pending future determination of use. The alternate plan originally included in the contract called for a roof over the first story at this corner, leaving the second and third stories to be added at a later date.

Two of the changes call for savings over the original contract price, $45 being deducted through rearrangement of the city clerk's and city water officers, and $360 being deducted by using washed rock and gravel in the concrete instead of the crushed rock as specified in the original contract.

MOTHER OF THREE ENDS LIFE IN COUNTY JAIL

FOUR PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN BOSTON BLAZE

Home of Noted Artist Is Gunned by Fire During Early Morning Hours

BOSTON, May 7.—(UP)—Four persons lost their lives today in a fire at the Back Bay home of John Lavallo, artist.

Two children were taken to City hospital.

The dead were tentatively identified as:

Mrs. Alice C. Lavallo, mother of the artist.

Alice, 14, daughter of the artist.

Mary Dolan, 24, a domestic.

Kathleen Costello, 28, a domestic.

Lavallo was reported to be in New York.

The fire started mysteriously in the four-story building on fashionable Marlborough street. Witnesses said an explosion followed.

Patrolman John J. Mehegan discovered the fire when he saw flames shooting from a first-floor window.

By the time the firemen arrived, fire was spouting from almost every window in the building, which had suddenly been transformed into a furnace, with many of the occupants trapped inside.

Heads appeared at some of the higher windows and there were frantic cries for help.

"Mary, Mary! Are you all right?"

FEDERAL OFFICERS ACT TO STOP FRAUD

DENVER, Colo., May 7.—(UP)—With at least 1200 chain letters confiscated the federal government today continued its drive to halt racketeering in this latest "share-the-wealth" plan.

Three men, charged with using the mails to defraud, have been arrested and released on their own recognizance after pleading not guilty to the charges. They were the first arrested since the chain letter craze started in Denver several weeks ago.

Those arrested by Postoffice Inspector Roy E. Nelson were R. M. Barnholt, vice-president of the Mountain States Oil Company; H. L. Harris, a mining promoter, and Edward W. Hughes.

The three men started a series of chain letters which would have netted them and their families approximately $75,000, Nelson charged.

Charles W. Wolford, detective lieutenant, and Edith Gallup, police matron, responded, and found Mildred Wells at Pine and Main street. She was barefooted, and carrying her shoes in her hand.

She submitted to arrest peacefully, but from her drink inflamed mind came a story of hungry children at home and of her being "tired of the world." At the county jail, she created a disturbance and was placed in a solitary cell where she could not disturb other prisoners, according to jail officials.

And two hours later her lifeless body was found, hanging upon a piece of cloth ripped from her nightgown.

Following the arrest, Wolford visited the woman's apartment at 704 West Third street, and found plenty of food for the children. He also arranged with Mrs. Ella Ault, landlady of the apartments, to care for the children.

Hangs Self From Bars Of Her Cell

Mildred Wells, Popularity Contest Beauty "Tired of the World"

MILDRED WELLS, 30, 704 West Third street, popularity contest beauty and mother of three children, was "tired of the world."

Seemingly happy, pleasant and agreeable, underneath she was discontented and dissatisfied with life. So she turned to drink, and then to suicide, and her body lies today at the Smith and Tutthill mortuary, while authorities are investigating her death by strangulation in the Orange county jail late yesterday.

For the body of Mildred Wells, who had been arrested three hours earlier for drunkenness, was found slumped in her cell in the woman's department of the county jail about 5 o'clock last evening.

About her neck was a strip torn from the nightgown with which each prisoner is supplied. The other end of the cloth was tied around a cross bar of the upper one of the two-deck cot in her cell.

She had torn the gown, wrapped it about her neck and the floor, strangling herself.

The suicide was discovered by Mrs. Theo. Lacy, woman matron of the jail, who called the fire department inhalator squad. Members of the squad worked for a half hour trying to revive respiration in the lifeless form without avail.

Coroner Earl Abbey announced today that an autopsy would be performed this afternoon, and that an inquest will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Smith and Tutthill mortuary.

Today, as officials were performing their duty in arranging final rites for Mildred Wells, two beautiful twin girls, aged 7, are longing for a mother who will never return.

They are Betty and Barbara, daughters of Mildred Wells and her husband, E. P. Parsons of Los Angeles, from whom she was separated. Their son, Gene, is living with his father.

Mildred Wells' final tragedy started yesterday about noon. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, reports began to arrive at the police station of an intoxicated woman on West Pine street, near Broadway.

Then came another similar report, from Pine and Sycamore. And then a third call, from South Main and Pine street.

Woman Arrested

Charles W. Wolford, detective lieutenant, and Edith Gallup, police matron, responded, and found Mildred Wells at Pine and Main street. She was barefooted, and carrying her shoes in her hand.

She submitted to arrest peacefully, but from her drink inflamed mind came a story of hungry children at home and of her being "tired of the world." At the county jail, she created a disturbance and was placed in a solitary cell where she could not disturb other prisoners, according to jail officials.

And two hours later her lifeless body was found, hanging upon a piece of cloth ripped from her nightgown.

Following the arrest, Wolford visited the woman's apartment at 704 West Third street, and found plenty of food for the children. He also arranged with Mrs. Ella Ault, landlady of the apartments, to care for the children.

SHORTAGE OF COUNTY LABOR IS REPORTED

Flood Control Engineer in Opinion Too Many SERA Projects, Few Men

FURTHER evidence that a shortage of labor exists in Orange county, first disclosed last week when beet growers appraised the county supervisors of their inability to lure Mexican workers away from the relief rolls, was again shown today when M. N. Thompson, county flood control engineer, declared that the county lacks workers to man its various SERA projects.

"Too many projects and not enough men," Thompson explained, in making known that he had been able to secure only a third of the men wanted on the Villa Park storm drain project, recently initiated through SERA.

"We called for 300 men and have been able to muster only 100 men on the job," Thompson said, announcing his intention of bringing the matter before the authorities. He conferred briefly on the matter today in executive session with the board of supervisors.

There has been a steady decrease in the SERA relief rolls for the past three months in Orange county, Terrence H. Halloran, director of the SERA, has reported. This decrease was caused by several factors. Many people were able to fill private employment in seasonal agricultural work and in other branches of private endeavor.

More recently the separation of agricultural workers' from the rolls so they could go on private agricultural work, caused another drop.

KIDNAPER GRANTED STAY OF EXECUTION

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 7.—(UP)—Gov. Guy B. Park today granted Walter McGee, condemned to die for kidnapping Miss Mary McElroy, a stay of execution until May 31.

McGee was scheduled to hang in the Jackson county courthouse at Kansas City Friday.

Governor Park granted the stay when informed by reporters that Division No. 2, of the state supreme court, had denied a motion to transfer the case to the court en banc.

Governor Park said his action in granting the 21-day reprieve was that he might have more time to study the case in detail.

Miss McElroy and her father, H. F. McElroy, city manager of Kansas City, have requested that he commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

Similar pleas have been made by Miss Lillie Knight, attorney for McGee, and McGee relatives.

INFLATION MEASURE IS VOTED 55-33

Bill Now Goes to President Roosevelt Where Veto Is Held Certain

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(UP)—The senate today, in face of a certain veto, passed the Patman bill to pay off the soldier bonus immediately with a $2,200,000,000 issue of "greenbacks."

The house passed the inflationary bill by an overwhelming vote earlier in the session.

Administration leaders said they believed the senate would sustain the veto which President Roosevelt has promised to give the Patman measure.

The bill now goes to the White House. President Roosevelt has let it be known he will veto the measure.

The senate vote on passage was 55 to 33.

Preliminary Votes

Passage of the bill came after a series of preliminary votes by which the senate showed its preference for the Patman bill over both the Harrison "administration" compromise plan and the American Legion bill sponsored first by Rep. Fred Vinson, D., Ky.

The compromise plan of Sen. Pat Harrison, D., Miss., was brought forward as a basis of senate action. It would have cost about $1,100,000,000 and would have sealed down the amount to be paid veterans.

In the first vote of the day, the senate by 54-to-20 substituted for this bill the Vinson plan, calling for an appropriation of $2,263,545,000 to pay the bonus but specifying no means of raising the money.

The Patman bill, providing for issuance of $2,200,000,000 of United States notes—currency secured only by the faith and credit of the government—in turn was substituted for the Vinson bill. The vote on this action was 52-to-35.

Roll Call

Then after brief discussion came the roll call on passage which sent the bill to the White House. The president will have 10 days to write the expected veto.

The vote on final passage, 55 to 33, was four short of a two-thirds majority.

On the final vote on passage of the Patman bonus bill by the Senate, 43 Democrats, 10 Republicans, one Farmer-Laborite and one Progressive were for it.

Against it were 21 Democrats and 12 Republicans.

The final roll call follows:

Democrats—(43)—Adams, Bachman, Bankhead, Bilbo, Black, Bone, Bulow, Byrns, Caraway, Clark, Coddie, Copeland, Costigan, Donahoe, Duffy, George, Hatch, Lewis, Logan, Long, Maloney, McAdoo, McCarran, McGill, McKeller, Minton, Moore, Murphy, Neely, Overton, Pittman, Pope, Russell, Schweiker, Thomas, Utah, Trammell, Truman, Van Nuys and Wheeler.

Republicans—(10)—Borah, Capper, Carey, Davis, Dickinson, Frazier, Gibson, Norris, Schall, Steiwer.

Farmer-Labor—(1)—Shipstead.

Progressives—(1)—La Follette.

Against passage—33.
Democrats—(21)—Ashurst, Bailey, Barkley, Brown, Bulkeley, Burke, Byrd, Connally, Dieterich, Fletcher, Gerry, Glass, Guffey, Harrison, Hayden, King, Loneragan, Radcliffe, Robinson, Wagner, Walsh.

Republicans—(12)—Austin, Barbour, Couzens, Hale, Hastings, Johnson, Keyes, McNary, Metcalf, Townsend, Vandenberg and White.

SUPERVISORS APPROPRIATE $3000 FOR ORANGE COUNTY EXHIBIT AT SAN DIEGO FAIR

ACTING UPON their expressed intention, as announced exclusively in The Register last Friday, the county supervisors today appropriated $3000 for an Orange county exhibit at the San Diego fair.

Neff said the supervisors would be invited to attend the final hearing of a South Laguna district zoning proposal, scheduled at 9:30 a. m. next Saturday before the planning commission at its quarters in the courthouse annex.

Meanwhile the supervisors took under advisement for two weeks an application for permit to establish a wrecking yard on highway 101 north of the county hospital, near the Log Cabin.

Chairman John Mitchell, in whose district the site is located, expressed a desire to withhold action.

ASK EXECUTION STAY AS APPEAL NOTICE FILED

Notice of an appeal on behalf of Dr. F. D. Coltrin, elderly Pulerton physician recently sentenced to San Quentin on conviction of second-degree murder and abortion, had been filed in superior court today by his counsel, Sharpless Walker and O. A. Jacobs, who raised several novel points in their move, which will prevent transfer of the physician to San Quentin until the appeal is determined.

Appeal will be taken to the Fourth District Court of Appeals, the notice said. It was accompanied by an application stating in general terms the grounds of appeal and the legal points to be raised; designating which portions of the court reporter's notes will be required to be transcribed. The defense also applied for and procured a writ of probable cause for appeal and a court order granting a stay of execution of Dr. Coltrin's sentence, while the appeal is pending.

Twenty grounds of appeal are specified in the notice, although only four grounds were urged in the defense argument on its motion for a new trial before Superior Judge H. G. Ames. Included in the 20 points are alleged errors of the court in sustaining objections to questioning of prospective jurors; asserted errors in admitting evidence offered by the state and excluding evidence offered by the defense; and asserted errors in instructing the jury.

Two of the legal questions raised are new to legal practice here, it is said. One of these is the alleged error of the court in commenting to the jury upon evidence introduced by the prosecution and failing to comment upon defense evidence; also failing to advise the jurors that they were the exclusive judges of all questions of fact. In arguing for a new trial, had contended that such failures were reversible error.

Another novel point raised is that in which the defense disputes the right of the judge to "re-sentence" the defendant, where judgment has already been pronounced on the first count of an indictment based upon the same set of facts. In this connection, the defense contends that Judge Ames having sentenced Dr. Coltrin to a term of from one to ten years on the abortion charge, could not legally sentence him on the second-degree murder charge, because both sentences were based upon the same set of facts.

At the time sentence was passed, Dr. Coltrin having been sentenced on the abortion charge, which formed the first count of the indictment, Attorney Walker had interposed an objection to pronouncement of sentence on the murder count, in the nature of a plea of former conviction.

Will Rogers Says:

ARCADIA, May 7. — (To the Editor of The Register:) This is the home of the famous Santa Anita track. We are over here shooting some race scenes. I can't even pick the winner in a movie race where it's fixed. Just reading of a fund the government has called the "conscience fund." If you feel that you have cheated the Gov. you send the money. It now has $618,000. Now offhand that sounds like a lot of conscience, but it figures out to just one-half cent apiece. So I imagine we still got quite a little bit on our mind that we haven't settled for. Say, how about the government having a "conscience fund." They have skinned us many a time.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

JURY GRANTS LARGE SUM TO DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE ACTION

A damage judgment of $21,726, the largest such judgment to be awarded in local courts for many years, was granted by a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court last night to Mrs. Reba C. Keenan against the J. and K. Produce company, of San Diego, and Harry Jenkins, its employee. The judgment was based upon injuries received by Mrs. Keenan, whose face was badly mangled, her left eye being destroyed, when her car collided with a produce truck last October 18. She sued for $85,650.

The jury deliberated from 4:16 to 9:53 p. m. on its verdict.

Sheriff Asks Law To Ban Short Wave Radios In Autos

Appearing before the county supervisors today, Sheriff Logan Jackson urged passage of a county ordinance restricting use of short-wave radio sets in private automobiles.

The ordinance, Jackson explained, would be designed to prevent interception of police radio reports by the public. Los Angeles has such an ordinance, he said.

The matter was referred to Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton.

CONTRACT LET TIDELAND OIL FOR EXTENDING DRILLING HIT GRAND AVENUE IN COMMITTEE

MARKING another important highway improvement in Orange county, the contract has been let for the Grand avenue-Glassell street extension project, it became known today, with announcement of the award from S. V. Cortelyou of the State Highway Commission in Los Angeles.

The contract figure is $25,543.50, and the successful bidder is the Mundo Engineering Company of Los Angeles. Four bids in all were submitted.

Following actual signing of the contract and posting of the necessary bonds, actual construction work will start, possibly within the next two to four weeks, it was said.

The contract covers the grading and paving of Grand avenue, together with culverts, 1.1 miles, from East Seventeenth street northward to Fairhaven avenue, and connecting with Glassell street. Asphalt concrete pavement six inches thick will be laid, together with oiled shoulders.

The contract covers opening of Grand avenue and construction work through the Schroeder, Schildmeyer, and Mueller properties necessary to the straightening of Grand avenue. Condemnation suits for the new right-of-way are pending. Cortelyou said today, speedy action being necessary to secure the allotment of Federal money for this highway improvement.

The new road will provide a direct route southward on Glassell street and Grand avenue to First street, and will eliminate the turns which have made this route dangerous and unsatisfactory in the past. Improvements to the shoulders of Grand avenue from Fourth to Seventeenth street have been carried out by Santa Ana city from the 1/4 cent gas tax allotment.

Later on when funds become available, it is expected this route will be completed southward to Newport road, providing a direct route from the Santa Ana canyon highway through Orange to South Coast beaches.

In preparation for the new pavement, the Santa Ana city council last night authorized the laying of a new 4-inch water main along Grand avenue from Seventeenth to Santa Clara, at an estimated cost of $2141. At the request of residents of the vicinity a fire hydrant will also be installed in the new main.

The matter was called to attention of the council in a letter from H. B. Lindley, resident engineer of the State Highway Commission, who pointed out that the present two-inch water main on Grand avenue has been in the ground for 25 years and new and larger mains should be laid at this time in order to avoid future damage to the pavement when replacement of the pipe should become necessary.

and gas drilled from upland locations. A special committee which investigated tideland drilling, particularly in the Huntington Beach area, recommended passage of the two bills which would permit development of tideland oil pools on the basis of royalty payments to the state. Derriks could not be erected on beaches, and there would be no danger of pollution from wells sunk in upland locations and slanted to the tideland pools, members of the committee believed.

Assemblymen William Moseley Jones and Ben Rosenthal submitted a supplemental report in which they said they did not believe capacity production could be had solely by directional drilling, but the committee recalled that the electorate had voted against direct tideland drilling.

Members of the oil industry committee insisted that the recommended bills should contain a provision for a minimum royalty.

NRA HEAD SEEKS 2 YEAR EXTENSION

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(UP)—Donald Richberg, acting chairman of the NRA, conferred with Democratic members of the house yesterday in an apparent effort to force the house to action on NRA legislation in event a senate filibuster ties up extension legislation.

The conference was secret. Richberg was understood to have told house Democrats continuation of NRA for two years was essential rather than the nine months proposed in the bill now before the senate.

It was believed that Richberg was agreeable to extension of the NRA under the same general principles as laid down in the senate resolution, however. NRA control only over interstate business probably would be acceptable to the administration, Chairman Robert L. Doughton said.

ANTI-ALIEN BILLS NOT TO BE PASSED

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—(UP)—Drastic anti-alien bills before the California legislature today appeared assured of a painless death as authors admitted no action was contemplated before adjournment. Assemblyman Clarence R. Walker, Westmoreland, author of a bill which would make it unlawful for any alien not eligible to citizenship to "acquire possession, enjoy, use, cultivate, occupy or transfer real property," said he had been informed the measure was unconstitutional and that it was "most doubtful" if any action would be taken on it.

Walker said that since introduction of the bill there had been little demand for its passage and that he contemplated no hearing in committee where the bill now rests.

PICKING JURY TO TRY DUAL SLAYER

NEW YORK, May 7.—(UP)—A possibility that the jury to try Joseph L. Steinmetz, 22, for the murder of his 17-year-old bride would not be completed before tomorrow arose today when almost the entire morning session was consumed in selecting one juror.

Four jurors were accepted yesterday. The fifth man is John Sturges, sales manager for a paint company. Steinmetz is accused of slaying his wife, the former Ruth Pile Armstrong, of Los Angeles, when she accompanied a priest, the Rev. J. J. Leonard, to his hotel room. He is also under indictment for slaying the priest, whose superior described him as "mentally ill."

The jurors chosen are married men and Protestants. Samuel Leibowitz, counsel for Steinmetz, who deserted Judaism to study for the Protestant ministry, carefully excluded by challenge talesmen of Catholic or Jewish faith.

HENS PAID POLICE
NORWOOD, Mass.—(UP)—Two crates of hens, lodged in the police lock-up here after they had been found abandoned on a street, paid for their keep. Over night, they laid seven eggs in the cell.

Merriam Asked To Commute Billings, Mooney Sentences

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 7.—(UP)—A plea that Gov. Frank F. Merriam follow the recommendation of the assembly and commute the sentence of Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings, San Francisco bombers, to time served was before the governor today in the form of an open letter from Assemblyman James F. Brennan, San Francisco.

"These defendants," Brennan wrote in referring to the two men convicted for the Preparedness Day bombing of San Francisco in 1916, "will be less disturbing outside than inside the state prisons."

"I recommend and earnestly urge that in accordance with the resolution passed by the assembly you forthwith commute the sentence of said defendants whether with or without their consent to time served and end this vexed and contentious question," the letter concluded.

Merriam declined to comment.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT OF S. A. PRAISED

Santa Ana's fine community spirit evidenced recently during the one-act play tournament, has brought form commendation and admiration from many visitors, according to a letter received by the city council from the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce and read at last night's council meeting.

"The Inglewood Chamber of Commerce takes this opportunity to express to your citizens, through you, sincere appreciation and thanks for the courtesies and very fine recognition paid our little theater group who competed in the ninth annual tournament of one-act plays in your city last Friday night," said the letter, which is signed by J. Warren Lane, secretary.

"The management and entire cast came back singing the praises of Santa Ana and they were very happy."

"It seems that your city and its people is imbued with that 'something' that makes communities outstanding, that fine civic spirit which we all admire and strive for."

"We are heartened by your fine hospitality and shall be happy to reciprocate should the opportunity ever present itself."

LIBERALIZATION OF PENSIONS SOUGHT

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—(UP)—Pension provisions for state highway patrolmen and public school teachers would be liberalized under terms of bills sent to the assembly today with "do pass" recommendations from the lower house committee on ways and means.

Assemblyman William Hornblower's bill on patrolmen pensions would make retirement at half pay compulsory at 45 and provide for halfpay pension to officers totally disabled. It was estimated the bill would cost the state motor vehicle fund an additional $65,000 annually.

The "teachers' annuity deposit fund" bill, introduced by Assemblymen Clark, Anderson, Burns, Cottrell, Morgan, Patterson and Phillips, would set up a system of annuities for teachers who have been retired at 65. Teachers eligible to the annuities would be required to pay to the fund four per cent of their monthly salaries.

Are we going to get out?" someone shouted.

The question apparently was addressed to Miss Dolan, one of the servants believed to have perished. Police and firemen risked their lives to rescue two daughters of the artist, Mary, 11, and Elaine, 5. They were taken to City hospital, where the former's name was on the danger list.

At the height of the fire, the second and third floors collapsed, and Fire Lieutenant Charles O'Brien was hurled into the basement, suffering a leg injury. He also was taken to the hospital.

FEDERAL SPENDING REACHES HIGH MARK

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(UP)—Federal government expenditures crossed the $6,000,000,000 mark in the first 10 months and four days of the current fiscal year, the treasury reported today.

This was the largest peace-time spending period on record. It exceeded by a small amount the $5,899,500,748 expenditures in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

The government's income also increased in this period, amounting to $3,145,494,111, compared with $2,559,528,408 in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year. This left the government "in the red" to the extent of $2,867,464,134 on May 4, 1935, compared with $3,379,972,340 on May 4, 1934.

FARM CONTINGENT REACHES ALASKA

SEWARD, Alaska, May 7.—(UP)—Defeated once by the ravages of dust and drought, 67 farm families from midwestern United States today awaited start of their second conflict with nature.

They arrived here last night after six impatient days at sea aboard the U. S. army transport St. Mihiel. Their arrival marked completion of the second step of their great adventure which will determine whether they will wrest a living from the fertile soil of Matanuska valley or will succumb to the unpredictable caprices of the elements.

They are the new pioneers. Their pilgrimage will be marked either by success or failure within five years.

HOST ON TRIP

Col. S. H. Finley, below, Santa Ana's representative and secretary of the Metropolitan Water District board of directors, will lead a party of Santa Ana officials and newspapermen on an inspection tour of the aqueduct starting tomorrow.

CITY OFFICIALS TO MAKE TRIP ON MWD ROUTE

Members of the Santa Ana city council, several other city officials, and city engineer J. L. McBride will leave tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock for an inspection tour of the Metropolitan water district aqueduct and workings, under the leadership of Colonel S. H. Finley.

The trip, similar to one taken a year ago, will enable the city officials to learn at first hand the workings of the gigantic project, which will be finished in about two years. The trip will be made over the entire line of work, including the tunnels, open ditch, and other spots where the crews are working.

The party, which will include members of the press, will stay tomorrow night at the Parker Dam site, returning over the line of work and back to Santa Ana Thursday. Col. Finley, who is secretary of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District, will personally escort the party over the territory, in company with engineers at work on the project.

Councilmen who have stated their intention of making the trip are Mayor Fred Rowland, Joseph P. Smith, William H. Penn and Ernest H. Layton. Councilman Plummer Bruns and City Clerk Ed Vegely will also make the trip if possible.

BEAUTY ENDS LIFE IN CELL AT JAIL HERE

for the twin girls while Mrs. Wells was in jail.

In the vacant apartment at 794 West Third street was found an empty gin bottle, mute evidence of how the final tragedy started. It is a one-room apartment, containing bed, gas range and kitchen table. In this room, Mildred Wells and her twin daughters had lived for the past week. Previously they were reported to have lived at 1612 West Second street.

Lived Here 10 Years
In the room was found a number of strings of beads and a quantity of cheap jewelry, including blue turquoise, chosen to harmonize with the owner's blue eyes. The red-headed beauty had been known as being always neat and well dressed.

Many friends today mourn the untimely death of Mildred Wells, friends she had made during more than 10 years of residence in Santa Ana.

She had held an important job with the CWA, working in the administration office where she had charge of the work card system.

Later she was employed at McFarland's cafe, on 101 highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim, then she worked at an auto camp in Nevada. More recently she had been unemployed, due to a broken ankle suffered in an automobile accident several weeks ago.

Mildred Wells was known as a beautiful girl, and was one of the entrants in the American Legion's popularity contest staged as part of the fiesta in the Santa Ana Municipal bowl on June 26, 1934.

AMERICAN ADMIRAL HONORED IN JAPAN

TOKYO, May 7.—(UP)—Three hundred of Tokyo's most prominent American and Japanese government and civilian dignitaries gathered here today at a dinner honoring Admiral Frank B. Upham, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet. Upham is here on a good will visit.

The dinner was the largest informal affair of similar nature in recent years. Prominent guests included Prince Tokugawa, U. S. Ambassador Joseph Clark Grew, Vice-Minister Hasegawa of the navy, and Vice-Minister Shigenobu of the foreign office. Numerous other Japanese naval officials were present.

Japanese fencers and wrestlers and American sailor boxers entertained the group following dinner.

This man banked on inheriting a fortune

Each of these men had every reason to believe he would inherit a substantial fortune. Neither inheritance materialized.

While one "banked" on his own resources, saved his surplus and was able to take advantage of opportunities which advanced him to the presidency of a large corporation—the other spent as he went, even accumulated large debts, and at this most critical point, found himself out of a job.

This story—based on actual fact—points a moral: OPEN A SAVINGS ACCOUNT, and do it TODAY.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

Who would think of covering the windows caulking the doors and battening the ventilators to shut out light and air with the thought that he would thereby increase his vitality, extend his outlook and multiply his energy? Yet in your hours of sore distress and dire need, you are tempted to do these very things by closing your heart and mind against the practice of prayer. Recognize that you must have help from on high with which to face your problems and seek in the way God has provided.

WIRES SENT TO CONGRESSMAN AND SENATORS

A record crowd of approximately 1200 were present at last night's mass meeting of Townsend club supporters of Santa Ana and vicinity, held at the First Methodist church. W. E. Robb of Riverside was the featured speaker at the meeting. District mass meetings at Fullerton and Huntington Beach swelled attendance figures for the county event to 2350.

Robb urged continued support of the movement, and stated that he was glad the measure had not passed in congress, as it would gain momentum through failure, and would eventually be perfected through repeated amendments.

He spoke of the practical aspects of the measure, stating that it would reduce crime, and practically eliminate poverty throughout the nation. In plain justice, he said, it should be passed, as the ones to benefit from it were the ones who had created most of the nation's wealth.

Telegrams were sent to Senators Hiram Johnson and William Gibbs McAdoo, and to Congressman Sam Collins, urging the active support of the Townsend recovery act, and stating that palliatives were not acceptable.

The meeting went on record in a resolution passed unanimously, for the continued activity of the entire group for their cause, and expressed unbounded confidence in Dr. Townsend. The resolution also congratulated national headquarters on the measure of success already achieved, and reaffirmed the stand that there "shall be no surrender till the Townsend old age revolving pension plan has been enacted as the great recovery program of our nation." H. F. Kenny was chairman of the session.

Included in the program for the evening were musical numbers by the Bel Canto club, of Santa Ana, and by Miss Elizabeth Morgan, soloist of the First Christian church choir.

Fullerton
"Thirty million members of Townsend clubs throughout the county are waiting to throw their political support to the party, old or new, that stands for the Townsend program," W. R. Robb, Santa Ana, said in opening his address at the Townsend mass meeting held in the Fullerton Methodist church last night.

Robb said that the Townsend movement is a great social move, of the people and by the people, and designed to keep the country from going under a dictatorship. Capitalism will only succeed, he said, by freeing itself from the groups he described as "leeches who extract for themselves approximately 92 per cent of the system."

The Townsend plan is the only equitable manner in which this can be accomplished, he declared. A resolution pledging renewed effort, and an increased activity along educational lines was passed by the meeting. Mrs. Lottie Weaver of the Fullerton club No. 2, presided at the session.

The program included a reading "SUPERIOR SERVICE REASONABLY PRICED" HARRELL & BROWN Phone 1222 116 West 17th St

The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, of the hostess church, pronounced the invocation. Approximately 400 were present.

Huntington Beach
Nearly 750 enthusiastic backers of the Townsend old age pension plan packed the Huntington Beach Memorial hall last night for a mass Townsend meeting, embracing delegates from Laguna Beach, Newport, Seal Beach and Huntington Beach.

Support for the Townsend educational plan was urged by W. H. Zimmerman of Santa Ana who addressed the meeting on the subject of the educational program of the Townsend central committee. "We must not whip the horses that are pulling the wagon," he said, "but must work to bring in more supporters for our plan."

Other speakers for the evening were F. L. Carrier, Orange, who amplified remarks made by Zimmerman, and also made the opening address of the meeting, and Mrs. H. Alden, also of Orange.

Robert Hoamer acted as chairman. The reported action of Congressman Sam Collins in voting against the pension plan was discussed at some length. Zimmerman said that Collins had explained his vote by saying he was for the best pension plan that was proposed, and for the presidential program in its entirety. While considerable censure of the Collins stand was expressed, no official action was taken.

Baby Has Plenty Of Grandparents

To the world at large, Peter Norton is one more baby, but he's a very important individual so far as several Orange county homes are concerned.

Peter arrived at St. Joseph's hospital on April 25, 1935, to gladden the hearts of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Norton of 809 Bay Front, Balboa, and today was released with his mother to go to their home.

He's the first grandson of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Norton of 301 Edgewood road, and a grandson of Mrs. Bertha Bowers.

He's the first great-grand child of Mrs. A. C. Bowers, pioneer resident of this city, and the first great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Norton, 817 South Birch street.

A large bouquet of double yellow nasturtiums was brought into The Register offices this morning by E. L. Pollock, who had grown them in his garden, at 806 Riverline street. The flowers, which are unusual in size and brilliance, grow in profusion in the backyard of the Pollock home. He has planted red double nasturtiums for next year.

COUNCIL TABLES REQUEST FOR ZONING PERMIT

The fate of North Broadway in the city's zoning plans was still undetermined today, with the city council holding upon the table for future determination a three-months old application for a service station at the southwest corner of Tenth and Broadway.

The application was filed by Shipkey and Pearson in February, was considered without approval by the Planning Commission, and was turned over to the council a week ago without recommendation, but with the suggestion that it be considered by the new Planning Commission yet to be appointed.

When the council met last night, Councilman William Penn reported that following a conference with Shipkey and Pearson and others, he would suggest the matter be laid on the table for future consideration, and his motion to that effect was seconded by Councilman E. H. Layton and carried.

Penn reported the investigating committee was inclined to look with disapproval upon zoning North Broadway properties for "special use" instead of for business, and the matter of zoning between Eighth and Tenth street will be considered later.

City Reports Filed
S. L. Preble, building inspector, reported fee collections of $231.05 for building and plastering permits in April.

H. C. Crowe, plumbing inspector, reported $179.50 collected in fees for 75 plumbing permits aggregating $16,893, and $7 in fees collected for 7 sewer permits.

W. O. Packard, city electrician, reported $138.05 collected in fees for electrical permits.

L. G. Mitchell, city recorder, reported fines collected for the past month aggregating $810.20.

Harold D. Pickering, humane officer, reported 68 dogs, 1 sheep, 1 cow, and 3 swarms of bees impounded; 39 dogs and 63 other animals destroyed; 19 returned to owners and 25 placed in the hands of new owners, with 17 dead animals being removed from the streets.

Service Station Approved
Installation of a service station at East First and Wright streets was approved by the council, upon recommendation of the Planning Commission. Application for the station was filed by Hazel A. Bunge and the station will be of brick and stucco construction.

All employees of the city water department were reappointed to serve at present salaries and at the pleasure of the board, upon motion of Councilman Joseph P. Smith, seconded by Councilman Plummer Bruns.

Harold D. Pickering was reappointed poundmaster at his present salary.

The Chamber of Commerce was granted permission to decorate ornamental light posts on Fourth street between Bush and Broadway for three days starting May 11.

W. R. C. To Plant Tree
Permission to plant a tree on the grounds of the Bowers Memorial Museum in honor of Mrs. Estelle P. Gray of Santa Ana, department president for California and Nevada, of the Woman's Relief Corps, was granted, the planting to be done in conformity with planting plans of the city forestry department. The application was signed by Mrs. Lulu Hall, 305 East Tenth street.

A letter from the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce, expressing thanks for courtesies extended by Santa Ana people in connection with the recent one-act play tournament, was received and filed.

A letter from D. L. Magner suggesting a new fire station in the extreme south part of town was filed for future reference.

Application of L. Lucio for a free permit for circus to be held on Townsend street between Second and Third for two days, May 10-11, with proceeds to be expended for benefit of the Mexican poor by the Mexican Benefit Society, was granted subject to approval of the police chief and police commissioner.

Application to solicit for the sale of religious books, calendars and pictures by O. G. Cunningham, 320 South Birch street, representing an organization with headquarters in Wisconsin, was denied.

Application of Wm. L. Hamilton for permission to conduct a commercial poultry yard at 1721 West Washington, with capacity for 320 chickens, was granted, upon recommendation of E. E. Frisby, sanitary inspector.

U. S. SOLD PELTS

DISTRICT WATER BILL PASSED BY STATE SENATE

The right of eminent domain in settling disputes over water and land rights would be given the Orange County Water District under terms of a senate bill sent to the state assembly today with a favorable committee recommendation, it was learned today in a United Press dispatch.

The bill, submitted by Senator N. T. Edwards of Orange county, would permit the district to go into courts and determine a fair price for land or water rights when disputes arose during the district's efforts to purchase property.

Proponents said it merely would give the water district the same rights as those enjoyed by other similar organizations, while opponents said it would pave the way for construction of a dam on the upper Mojave river to the harm of lower regions.

C. Roy Browning, director of the district, Attorney A. W. Rutan and Paul Bailey, consulting engineer for the district, have been in Sacramento during the past few days to appear before the legislative committee. The officials are expected to report to the board of directors at a regular monthly meeting of the district directors tomorrow afternoon in Garden Grove.

The measure already has the approval of the state senate, and

COUNTY PHYSICIANS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Reports concerning the proposed SERRA medical program for relief cases will be given at tonight's meeting of the Orange County Medical society, to be held at the Orange county hospital chapel. The featured talk of the evening will be given by Dr. Llewellyn E. Wilson, on "The Orange County Hospital Polymyositis Epidemic of 1934."

Dr. Ralph E. Hawes, Huntington Beach, will preside at the meeting, and will supplement remarks on the SERRA program, which would be under the direction of the medical society, in conjunction with the Orange county SERRA.

CHRISTIAN FUNK RITES WEDNESDAY

Funk, who had lived in Santa Ana for the past seven years, was a retired farmer. He is survived by two sons, Henry Funk, of Am-

DRIVER HELD RESPONSIBLE IN AUTO DEATH

Tony Seliz, 21, of 1720 1-2 West Fourth street, Santa Ana, driver of the car which overturned about 5 o'clock Sunday morning on Placentia avenue northeast of Anaheim bringing death to George Flores, 21, of 1727 West Fourth street, one of the passengers, was held responsible for the fatal crash by a coroner's jury which investigated the accident today.

Seliz was held to have been under the influence of intoxicating liquor at the time of the crash, when his car failed to make a turn while going at excessive speed. Immediately upon the jury's findings being made known, Seliz was placed under arrest by Coroner Earl Abbey, who conducted the inquest at the Harrell and Brown parlors, and lodged in the county jail.

It was expected that a warrant charging manslaughter would be issued against Seliz, who was one of the witnesses at the inquest today.

Mary Flores, 22, wife of the dead man, Arthur Flores, 19, of Atwood and Mickey Orco of West Eighth street, Santa Ana, were injured when the Seliz car turned over.

Arnett, Okla., and one daughter, Mrs. O. Harzner, of Alva, Okla.

RECREATIONAL PROGRAM FOR CITY PLANNED

Possibility of the city of Santa Ana inaugurating a recreational program for young adults, in cooperation with the SERA program which is largely concerned with children's playground activities, was under consideration of Santa Ana municipal officials today, following presentation of the matter to the city council last night by R. R. Russick, SERA recreation director.

A committee consisting of Councilmen E. H. Layton and Joseph P. Smith was appointed by Mayor Fred Rowland to confer with Russick, members of the board of education, and others, with a view to working out the city's part of the program in case it should be undertaken.

Russick explained that the cost of the entire summer program, including the hiring of a supervisor outside the SERA, would be approximately $300, of which one-half would be spent for recreational equipment and supplies.

Russick explained the present county-wide SERA recreational program, under which school playgrounds in Santa Ana and other county cities will be operated this summer, and suggested possibility of a city recreational project to supplement the SERA work. Such a program, he explained, might include a recreational hall, which could be used as a municipal auditorium and a social center, with supervised dances, etc.

One hundred eighty people are employed in the county SERA project, Russick explained, and a training school for these supervisors and directors is held in Santa Ana. To date, little has been done for adults and young people of high school and junior college age, Russick explained, urging that the program be broadened.

Possibility of keeping school workshops open during the summer for the use of young people under competent instruction was suggested by City Engineer J. L. McBride and is expected to be considered during the coming weeks.

ASSESSING OF PRORATE FRUIT GETS APPROVAL

Following consideration of various plans for controlling surplus citrus fruit, prominent citrus growers of California, at a meeting here yesterday afternoon under sponsorship of the Farm Bureau, decided to favor a plan to assess all fruit in the weekly prorates to accomplish the purposes desired.

Several plans for developing a surplus control plan under the California-Arizona Marketing Agreement so that in seasons of surplus crops the low quality fruit and undesirable sizes could be handled on an equitable basis in order to market the entire crop in a manner to return cost of production to the grower and maintain a reasonable price to the consumer, were brought up at the session.

E. A. Beck of Placentia, author of a plan which would attempt to control the surplus with fruit rather than with money, explained his plan to the committee. J. A. Prizer, of Fullerton, outlined his plan. A group from Tulare presented another plan, and the Teague-Prizer plan, and Tulare plans all are based on making assessments on fruit.

It was understood that the committee favored the plan to make an assessment on prorated fruit because the plan is simpler to handle and requires less machinery to operate. The plan favored would have the effect of compensating the grower for his surplus fruit, which would be made into by-products and disposed of in other channels. Such a plan, it was said, would improve the quality of the fruit which goes to the consumer and would give the grower some compensation for poorer grades.

A sub-committee was named to attempt to take the best part of each plan and blend them into a composite program. This committee will meet in Los Angeles Friday afternoon and will give a report to the citrus industry following the meeting. Petition then would be circulated to secure the necessary 80 per cent of the growers before the program can go through.

82 MINUTES FOR 'FRISCO-L. A. TRIP

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—With his low-wing, silver plane skimming above the clouds at a record-breaking pace, Vance Brees, Gilmore test pilot, established a new official airplane speed mark between San Francisco and Los Angeles today, when he took off from Mills Field in the Bay City and landed at the United Airport in Southern California, 82 minutes later.

Official time for the flight was reported by technical observers of the National Aeronautical association.

Despite the amazing speed attained, the pilot insisted his trim ship, which has a wing spread of only 25 feet, is a practical and not a "trick" racing plane.

FINE PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN AT J. C. FIESTA

With the Padua Hills Mexican Players providing entertainment, and Carl Wheat and Dr. Owen C. Coy as speakers, Santa Ana Junior college will hold its eighth annual Fiesta on the college campus next Friday, with Lucian Wilson as Fiesta manager, and T. H. Glenn faculty adviser.

Father Owen of St. Anthony's seminary at Santa Barbara mission will crown Vernon Mansur and Agnes De Busk Don and Dona for the occasion, starting the day's activities at 10:30 a. m. on the Fiesta arena on the board of Education grounds. The Padua players will lead the Don and Dona procession from College hall, and after the coronation ceremony will present an interlude of music and dancing.

Wheat will give the morning address, speaking on "Fact and Fancy in Our California Background." He is a Los Angeles attorney, and is said to be an authority on early California history.

Dr. Coy, of the department of history of the University of Southern California, will discuss the subject "California Under Six

ENTERTAINER

Pictured here is Miss Cecilia Amador, member of the Padua Hills Mexican players, who will present a program of Mexican entertainment Friday at the eighth annual Santa Ana Junior College Fiesta, to be held on the college campus. The Fiesta will commence at 10:30 Friday morning, and continue throughout the day.

entertainment. The players will also sing and dance at other intervals throughout the day.

The annual bull fight, under the direction of Kenneth Vandruft, will be presented as part of the afternoon entertainment. Kenneth Niesley and Lavera Brover will act as the bull and toreros will be Jack Runnels, Kenneth Stowell, Stephen Bruff, Leo Johnson, Nolan Hasson and Jay Wood. Music will be furnished by the Jay-see men's chorus, directed by Miss Myrtle Martin, Jay-see music head; and Cleo Smith will sing. Also the college dancing class under the instruction of Miss Zena Leck will present a tango.

Evening Dance

The Fiesta will conclude with a dance in the American Legion hall, with Frank Nieman's orchestra from the Laguna Beach ballroom providing music. "Smilin' Through" this year's Fiesta play free to visiting seniors, will be held Friday evening in the Willard auditorium, 1620 North Ross street, at 8:15 p. m.

Members of the hospitality committee, composed of members of Los Gatos, men's service club, and one of the four women's service clubs, will be under the co-chairmanship of Harold Lutes and Naomi Wheeler. They will be guides for the campus visitor's tour, and will also be table hosts for the noon luncheon and evening dinner, when the seniors are guests of the college.

Gauche committee members are Jay Wood, LaVern Brower, Ryverez Allen, Ray Foster, Kenneth Niesley, Paul Christ, Robert B. Kelly, Asa Hoffman, Albert Clark,

Chris Ema and Robert Ramm. Women members of the committee are Mildred Ware, Meninas; Arden Murray, Moavy; Mary Denni, Moavy; Mary Lou McClellan, Spinster; Jeanne Paxton, Gitana, and Betty Woods, Gitana.

Economic Changes Topic For Lecture By Homer Chaney

Homer C. Chaney, trust officer of the First National bank, will give the second in a series of lectures on economics next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Willard auditorium, 1620 North Ross street. His subject will be "Changes in Economic Thinking."

This lecture will be of interest and value to all who are concerned about present economic conditions. Mrs. Golden Weston, adult education director, said, "Last week Mr. Chaney gave a detailed analysis of recent changes in economic legislation. His most challenging statement last week was that all legislation was the result of the thinking of the people, therefore it will be most interesting and enlightening to study the changes in the thinking of the people."

These lectures are brought by the Willard evening high school and are free to the public.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

Club No. 5 will meet at the Richland Avenue M. E. church dining room at 8 o'clock tonight for a covered dish supper. The business meeting will be held in the church at 7:30 o'clock.

Residents of Buena Park are invited to attend the meeting of Townsend club No. 1 scheduled for this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Congregational church.

DAIRY INTERESTS OF COUNTY TO MEET

The dairy department of the Orange County Farm Bureau has invited other dairy organizations in Orange county to meet with the Farm Bureau group Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in Farm Bureau hall, 622 North Main street, Santa Ana, in order to hear a full report on the status of the dairy prorated program and how this program is tying in with the AAA dairy agreements.

The Farm Bureau invitation was extended by Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary, who announced that Earl Haberg, zone agent for the prorated program, will be present at the meeting.

H. C. Darger, market administrator, has been invited to the session, and it is expected that he will be present. Flaherty expressed the hope that a full representation of the different dairy interests of the county will be at the meeting.

PHYSICIANS OF COUNTY OPEN BUREAU OFFICE

The opening of a new Orange county business institution was announced today when the Orange County Medical Bureau, Robert Speed, manager, established offices at 209-210 Pacific building, Third and Broadway, Santa Ana.

The announcement stated that the Orange County Medical Bureau is a corporation organized among the members of the Orange County Medical Association which, in turn, includes over one hundred physicians and surgeons in this county.

The new Bureau is planned to meet modern business conditions in a modern business way, serving both the medical fraternity and the public. By its articles of incorporation it is empowered to hold real estate, and its incorporators expect within a short time to purchase a site and erect a building to house the offices of the corporation, an auditorium for medical society meetings, and a county medical library. Enough medical books are already on hand or ready to be contributed by members to make such a library outstanding in Southern California.

Among the forms of immediate service the Orange County Medical Bureau will render the physicians are collections and credit reports. An allied service it will render the public is the arranging for credit terms where needed, to the end that necessary medical or surgical work be at the disposal of all. The manager will stand ready at all times, it was announced, to act as mediator in disputed accounts between doctors and patients.

It is reported that there has long been a strong sentiment among county members of the medical fraternity that as their interests are practically identical they should be handled through a common office. This need the new Bureau is established to meet. It is expected to take a prominent and permanent position in the business life of Orange county, the announcement concluded.

Members of the committee, which made arrangements for the new bureau, are Drs. J. L. Maroon, H. A. Johnston, J. M. Burlew, W. P. Baker and W. S. Wehrly.

FIREMEN HOLD DANCE

MIDWAY CITY, May 7.—The Midway City Volunteer Firemen's association of Midway City sponsored a dance Saturday evening at the local clubhouse. Door receipts will be plied in their equipment fund.

Sixteen couples came from La Habra to attend besides the local people and the Merry-makers orchestra of Fullerton furnished the music for the evening. A number from here plan to attend an American Legion dance at a Habra next Saturday evening.

OFFICERS OF B. & P. W. CLUB ARE INSTALLED

Installation of officers for Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club, accomplished last night at the first May 7th meeting in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, located in the presidency, Miss Lorraine French, 1022 West Fifth street, as successor to Mrs. Rosa Walker.

Installed with Miss French were Miss Lena Thomas and Miss Artie Cleveland, first and second vice presidents; Miss Damaris Beaman, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Douglas, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Emma C. Van Deusen, recording secretary; Mrs. Charlotte Bacon, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Rose Walker and Mrs. Grace Wolff, directors.

Miss Helen Gallagher and Mrs. Marie Fowler, a past president, had charge of installation ceremonies. Miss Gallagher presenting to each candidate in turn, some amusing emblem of her office and a beautiful corsage bouquet. Mrs. Fowler adopted a floral ladder as the symbol of the officers' progress through club activities to high ideals and achievements.

The final official duty of Mrs. Walker in concluding a year that has seen a fine advance in club membership and growth, was to present a president's pin to Miss Martha Whitson, one of the early presidents who had not yet received this insignia. There were songs to add interest to the ceremonial, with Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh introduced as soloist and Miss Leonora Tompkins as accompanist.

Both have given many programs for the Business and Professional Women, but have never been more enjoyed than they were last night. Mrs. Slabaugh selected her songs from those written and composed by Women, opening with Sara Teasdale's "Twilight" (arranged by Glenn) and followed by "One Golden Day" by Fay Foster. She was greeted with enthusiasm, and responded with an encore number, Teresa del Riego's "Happy Song".

In the introduction of special guests, Mrs. Walker, conducting the meeting in advance of installation, spoke of the pleasure in entertaining the club's first president, Miss Doris Robbins now of South Pasadena; the first and only honorary life member, Mrs. O. M. Robbins, who accompanied her daughter to the dinner; and one of the club's first babies, little Miss Jeanne Louise Cole, who was present with her mother, Mrs. J. Leonard Cole, president of Orange B. P. W. club. Miss Jean Louise was born when Mrs. Cole was a member of the Santa Ana business and professional women's organization, and her second name was given in compliment to the president at that time, Miss Louise Kaiser.

Accompanying Mrs. Cole from the Orange club were her program chairman, Mrs. Florence McCoy, and Miss Mattie Danne-man, educational chairman for both the Southern District federation and the Orange club. Several former Santa Ana members, including Dr. Mary E. Wright, were among guests entertained.

Miss French will preside over her first meeting on the night of May 20, at a club dinner to be held at the usual hour of 8 o'clock in the Doris Kathryn.

Mrs. C. B. Henry Is Luncheon Hostess

ATTENDANCE AT S. A. H. S. MORE THAN YEAR AGO

T. P. McKee, registrar of the Santa Ana High school, today announced that seven new pupils had registered at the local high school during the past week. With the admission of the new transfers, the total enrollment reached 1185, a gain of 76 over the attendance the same time last year.

New students and the schools from which they transferred are: Virginia Stuck, transfer from Lincoln High school, Los Angeles; Willalee Heberle, Wilson High school, Long Beach; George Lee, Tustin High school, Tustin; Alexander Gordon, New Rochelle High school; Theresa Allen and Burl Allen, Sherman High school, Sherman, Texas; and Maxine Rowell, Orange Union High school, Orange.

McKee also stated that five students had left the high school to work or because of illness. They are: Cora Cummings, Clifford Peterson, Watson Easterly, Alice Bacon and George Hutton.

Greasing Experts Offer Special At Murphy's Garage

For three days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May 8, 9 and 10, a supervised lubrication special will be conducted by Job Murphy's Garage, 201-205 North Main street, Santa Ana. This lubrication special sponsored under the direction of the Santa Ana Motor Parts and Machine Works, Santa Ana, distributors of Quaker State products in this territory, will be under the personal supervision of A. A. Lieberman, lubrication representative from the Quaker State Oil Refining company.

On these three days Bob Murphy will offer car owners the opportunity to have their cars lubricated exactly in accordance with factory recommendations under personal supervision of a factory trained expert.

The lubrication department of Bob Murphy's establishment is most complete and modernly equipped, only expert workmen are employed following Check-Chart system of lubricating and Quaker State superlube lubricants are featured exclusively.

Quaker State engineers have developed a specialized lubricant to meet the most exacting requirements for every particular lubrication point on a modern motor car—a lubricant that protects the moving, wearing surface of every vital part. The paramount importance of protecting motor car investments by the periodical use of quality lubricants in the right place at the right time will be explained to motorists availing themselves of this opportunity to have their cars serviced during this supervised lubrication special.

HOLD LAST RITES

WESTMINSTER, May 7. — The funeral of Miss Ecological Rivera, 23, local native resident, whose death occurred Saturday night following an illness of some months, was held today at El Modena, with burial in the Catholic cemetery near there.

Miss Rivera was a graduate of the Westminster schools and was treasurer in the Parent-Teacher association of the local Hoover Mexican school.

Colorful Corner Tips . . .

TWO PAIR OF NO. 5 SHOES WILL NOT FIT IF YOU NEED A PAIR OF SHOES SIZE TEN.

Two gallons of cheap paint will never take the place of one gallon of good paint.

The worst feature of poor paint is that it costs more to take it off than it does to put it on.

You can't fool old man weather. Cheap paint will not hold up and is expensive from the start.

Cheap paint is expensive to apply. Why waste the cost of applying it in addition to the cost of the paint.

We have paints for every type of surface. Metal, concrete, wood, panel veneer, etc.

The expansion and contraction of different surfaces demand the correct product.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallen

NORMALCY—

You may shortly hear that the senate has authorized a committee investigation of the public works administration. A resolution authorizing it was drawn a week ago, but not introduced. It is to be a companion piece to the Couzens resolution recently adopted by the senate in a very quiet way. The Couzens resolution authorized an inquiry into relief expenditures by the senate appropriations committee.

There are no scandalous rumors behind these moves. Also no political fishing expedition. Senators merely got their heads together and agreed the time had arrived for the new dealers to "come down off Mount Olympus and subject themselves to some kind of normal audit." The strongly independent Senator Couzens conceived the idea and sold it. His moves are always above political suspicions.

In line with this, there is some cloakroom talk about eventually establishing a federal bureau of audit.

BIG FINGER—

Deeper down than that in the senatorial mind now is a desire to keep a hand on expenditures when congress is not in session. A significant slant on the move is that the restraining hand will be exercised by the appropriations committee. The forefinger there is the committee chairman, Carter Glass, who has never been an Olympian. The new dealers have not objected. At least, one cabinet officer privately approved the Couzens resolution before it was adopted.

SMOOTHING—

The new deal move to tighten up on news leaks seems to be spreading. Some free-talking officials have suddenly become evasive. A few have frankly asked to be relieved of the responsibility of answering questions hereafter. Not only officials but the rank and file of personnel in some government quarters have shown a sudden preference for silence.

These tightening-up flurries have occurred on several previous occasions in this and in past administration. They never have been successful, and usually provoke a sharp, unfavorable reaction.

This one appears to be more extensive and earnest, but there is no reason to believe it will be any more successful than the others. Trying to channelize the news of government is like trying to smooth the ocean waves.

STRETCH—

The family troubles of Republicans are fully explained by a remark dropped some time ago by house Republican Leader Snell. Said he: "I am a liberal conservative."

There is no question that the somewhat conservative Mr. Snell has become somewhat more liberal this year. However, some of his party snickerers have taken up the remark as an indication that Mr. Snell is trying to grasp the north pole and south pole at the same time, a feat which is good if ever accomplished. These snickerers are calling him "a radical conservative."

Similarly, some of the congressional spooners within the party have been joshing the wise Kansas editor, William Allen White, who has spoken well of men like Norris and La Follette as well as some of the Republican opposites.

SHEPHERDING—

Speaker Byrnes lately has been trying a new kind of leadership quietly in the house. It has worked very well so far.

Instead of using the strict historic Garner method, he has tried friendly consideration. He does not use his gavel on the skulls of his flock, but tries to shepherd them gently with his crook.

For instance, there has been no real old-fashioned gag-rule invoked on any bill since the first one (the relief bill). On all legislation lately, the sheep have been permitted to romp and play to an unprecedented extent.

Some old-timers believe his system is working better than the Garner method would have with the peculiar temperament of the current house. The herd includes many baby lambs who are in congress only because of the political prestige of the Democratic administration.

LABOR SPLIT—

The inner rift in the ranks has become serious. It will probably be smoothed over and suppressed temporarily again without an open break, but you never can tell.

Basically, the current dispute within the A. F. of L. centers over the form of union organization. The big industrial labor groups, led by United Mine Workers, want separate unions for each industry, vertical unions. This is a departure from the A. F. of L. policy of craft unions for all industry (carpenters, bricklayers, etc.).

What availed the argument recently is the fact that the A. F. of L. executive council has failed (in the eyes of the vertical unionists) to carry out the mandate of the last A. F. of L. convention for vertical unionism.

The council has been issuing only local charters. Not a single national charter has been approved since the convention. In one important case, the council has declined to give even a local charter to an auto union.

DEFICIENCY

One prominent administration official, conversing with a senator, confessed: "What the new deal needs more than anything else is more able and honest men who are good administrators."

The senator smirked: "You have forgotten that you told me a year ago that what you needed most was a group of brilliant, aggressive youngsters who would fight."

"Perhaps," responded the official, "there has been too much fighting."

CONFUSION

One of the hottest angles in the squabble over the bank reform bill is just beginning to develop. The announcement by Chairman Steagall—that he intends to fight for the provision endorsed by his House Banking committee making it unnecessary for state banks to join the Federal Reserve system in order to be eligible for deposit insurance—is certain to breed live-wire complications.

This amendment, pet child of the state banks, will of course be anathema to Carter Glass. But its real significance lies in the fact that it also treads on the administration's toes—and Steagall is supposed to be a loyal White House lieutenant. Ever since FDR took office he has been quietly working toward unification of the banking system with a minimum of political fuss. So on this issue he is obliged to stand—even if only off the record—with the Virginia senator who is the bitterest opponent of the Federal Reserve reforms the government wants.

Unless the administration can bring Steagall and other state bank champions quickly to heel it will be a case of confusion worse confounding—affording a golden opportunity for back stage political swaps. Financial men believe this situation greatly improves their chances of maintaining the status quo.

COMPROMISE

Utility leaders understand that the administration is considering a modification of the holding company bill which won't look like much of a concession but will make a lot of difference to them. The bill would retain its "death sentence" provisions—in theory. In practice Joe Kennedy's Securities Commission would be given very wide discretionary powers to decide whether the sentence must be carried out in the case of each particular group.

A number of power company heads now recognize that the president cannot afford for political reasons to scrap the Wheeler-Rayburn measure and substitute the purely regulatory bill they prefer. It is important for him to avoid giving the impression of a forced retreat.

On that basis the prospective compromise is about as satisfactory as they could hope for. It enables FDR to save face and it puts their fate in the hands of a man who has shown no inclination to interfere with legitimate business. The industry will continue to protest the bill—but mostly for the record. Much of the inside heat will be turned off. Some of the diehards would rather have had a flat showdown—but cooler-headed associates realize it would be too big a risk.

STABILIZATION

Another shadow of international monetary complications stalks in the wake of mounting silver prices. If the metal advances much further sterling is likely to rise against the dollar.

This is because sterling is linked to the silver rupee at 1 shilling sixpence to the rupee—thus making the gold value of the pound and the gold price of silver interdependent. Britain can't tamper with this rupee relationship because it would raise the price of silver in India—and she must at all costs avoid disturbances there. So the pound must tend to rise with Indian silver currency.

New York experts predict that dollar silver will preclude any definite dollar-pound stabilization except at a rate above five dollars—which wouldn't be so good for United States trade.

DECISIVE

One of the chief reasons for opposition to Richard Whitney as president of the Stock Exchange was the conviction that he had flattered his public relations job. Now some of the members who put Gay across want to go a step further and hire a publicity expert to guide the Exchange to new popularity.

This idea is the subject of lively argument behind the scenes. Those who want such a counselor can't agree on his identity—and there's another potent faction which contends that the engagement of a professional propagandist would defeat its own purpose.

Although Chairman Kennedy of the Securities Commission is not officially a party to the discussion his views are likely to be decisive.

PRESTIGE

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Assistant Secretary Edward McGrady are credited here with clever handling of the auto strike.

The smartest angle was McGrady's refusal to have anything to do with Leo Wolman's Auto Labor Board. This gesture was beautifully calculated to win the confidence of the strikers. If he can negotiate a settlement which gives the unions anything to celebrate, the Department's prestige with labor will shoot to the skies.

MONOPOLY

Several investment banking firms are getting worried about a bill passed by the New York legislature which gives the Public Service Commission authority to require that utility bond issues be awarded to the highest bidder in a sealed bid competition.

If the Commission takes this seriously it will be tough luck for investment houses which had certain utility groups as steady clients. Such monopolies were pleasant and profitable and it certainly pains the boys to think that they may be cancelled.

PRECEDENCE

Many vice presidents of New York banks are as jealous of their seniority as guests at a state dinner. When two institutions are transacting business custom dictates that the junior negotiator must call on the senior—never vice versa. Relative seniority is often hard to establish—but insiders comment that many V.P.s could give pointers to Alice Longworth and Dolly Gann in the gentle art of claiming precedence.

SIDEGLITS
Wealthy holders of first Liberties have hastened to the preferred refuge of five-year notes. . . . Recent rapidity of conversion confirms our prediction that Secretary Morgenthau's scheme would work. . . . Reo is planning to bring out a Diesel-motored truck.

L. WEST PINCH-HITTING FOR E. WEST IN THE SEVENTH

Eddie West
c/o The Register
Dear Eddie:

I am sorry that you are ill, not only because I dislike sickness, but also because you are not at your best with that heavy hirsute adornment about your face.

However, I may be of some assistance. I used to be a newspaper woman you know so I'll try it again just for fun.

I suggest that you have a pinch-hitter something like this: L. West, batting for E. West in the seventh, or better, make it on the seventh... or isn't that the way they arrange it in baseball?

Of course you know my dad (Hurt Stephenson) was one of Santa Ana high school's finest football heroes. Some of the old timers like Vic Walker, Billy Moore, Dr. M. A. Patton, and George Spangler still maintain he was just as good as any of the youngsters of more recent vintage. Dad, who was known as Eric the Red because of his blazing hair, slyly denies Mr. Walker's allegation that he ever made a touchdown against Anaheim while smoking a cigarette. He does not deny, however, that at an early age he was shooed out of the fountain in the Orange Plaza for swimming in the nude. It seems that the Orange Rebeccas objected to such conduct. Neither does he deny that he was a constant source of trouble to the school officials headed by J. C. Templeton whom you will remember as the father of "Dink", Rick and the other immortal Templetons of Stanford University.

Speaking of the Templeton tribe reminds me that our dream of importing an endless chain of Stephensons here for athletic purposes seems dashed. In the interest of honest reporting I must state that my five Stephenson brothers thus far have shown no outstanding skill. The two youngest, Martin and Gene, are still to be heard from and if they can play football as well as they can play basketball, and hunt, and fish, track wild game, and detect forest fires they'll be up here soon.

You remember that movie-short that Grantland Rice made which gave credit to the monkey for being the smartest of all animals, placing the dog far back on the list? Well, I don't believe it. What about Neal Stanley's dog, Teddy, who follows Neal to The Register office one day each week and hangs around in the hall until noon. That day is Saturday, pay day if you please.

Someday in your column you

WILLARD L-9-2'S WIN GAME 9 TO 5

Led by Pitcher O'Campo who allowed but one earned run and started a hitting streak in the third inning, the Willard L-9-2's defeated the L-8-0's 9 to 5. O'Campo's batting rally started the club on a hitting streak that could not be curbed until five runs had been chalked up.

Tomorrow the L-9-2's will play the L-8-1's for the first half championship of the Ninth grade. In the second game yesterday the H-8-0's defeated the H-8-K's by a 9 to 1 score.

NEW RACE BILL HEARING

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—(UP)—The senate horse racing bill was back before the senate judiciary committee today after demands were made by race officials for further hearings. The measure would increase the state "take" of mutuels from four to six per cent and decrease the track share from eight to six per cent. The state also would appropriate breakage and unpaid bets, the bill provides.

JIM COATES MAY QUIT STARS

PITCHING ACE GETS OFFER TO JOIN VISALIA

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Jim Coates, pitching ace for "Big Bill" Cole's Stars, may be lost to Santa Ana and the National League according to word received here today.

Coates is reported, reported an offer yesterday from the Visalia Nighthawks in the San Joaquin Valley league and is seriously considering the bid. The offer, it is said, carried a job with a weekly salary of from $50 to $75 for duration of the baseball season.

While Coates is seriously considering the offer there are certain angles that will have to be definitely settled to his satisfaction before he signs on the dotted line. The principal item for settlement is that of salary guarantee. Coates has indicated that if this and other minor details can be ironed out he will accept.

In the matter of salary guarantee Coates has indicated that the money must be placed in a bank or some other depository before he signs. His attitude in the negotiations is "that's a lot of dough—If I get it."

Another angle that may deter Coates is the fact that if he signs with Visalia he will be suspended permanently from both the National and American leagues. Louie Neva, Dave Webb and Bruce Harolds jumped the league last year with Visalia and were suspended. Later this trio was reinstated on the grounds that the suspension rule had not been in effect when they joined the valley loop. It is different with Coates as he has been playing in the National League for the past two years. If he jumps, he stays jumped.

For the past two years Coates has been on the mound for the Stars and prior to that pitched for Huntington Beach in the county league. Outstanding hurler this season his loss, just as the league season opens would be a serious setback to hopes of the locals.

SHOULDER VIEW OF DERBY

Everything But Reporters Jammed in Press Box

JACK DEMPSEY STEALS SHOW

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 7.—(UP)—Being nothing more vital than a few random memories of the Kentucky Derby, the sixty-first running of which I saw over the shoulder of a woman so fat that she had none. The press box at Churchill is just that... By the time the horses, including my dear, sweet, lovely, big, brown-eyed Omaha, went to the post, the press box was pressed full of damn near everything but reporters.

I never did find out where all the people in the press box came from, but it was reported that the southern branch of the National Shoe and Mattress Renovating corporation was there for its annual convention.

Big Jim Farley's undertaker's suit. The embarrassment of Banker William Woodward, Omaha's owner, when the photographers asked for a few pictures.

"What do you want my picture for?" he asked. "Take Omaha's and Saunders, they did it."

J. H. Loucheim, owner of Morluck, betting $1000 on his horse's nose only to have the ticket lifted by a pickpocket five minutes later.

He didn't seem very concerned, however. He probably felt that Morluck had about as much chance as today, Nellie Flag, Plat Eye or any of the others, once Omaha started rolling down to Rio.

Thousands of the crowd forgetting the fifth race on Friday to mob Jack Dempsey who is still "the champ" despite the fact that he hasn't swung a competitive fist in eight years.

The wry faces of those folk who downed mint juleps when they couldn't stand the taste of the things. The insistence of the barkeepers that patrons tell them exactly how many years old they desired the whiskey to be which was used in their drinks.

Personally, I found five-going-on-six the best. But then, to me the sweetest mint julep in the world is one made from bathtub gin and parsley, with just a dash from one of those wrinkled, haggard old lemons that you can always find way back in the back of the ice box.

Speaking of ice boxes, does any one have one he would be kind enough to put on my head.

And I want that part that always drips on the floor to run down the back of my neck.

ing regulations aimed at keeping out undesirable commercial enterprises, the replacing of water mains in territory served by South Coast Water District highway tree planting, and other matter affecting community development are scheduled to come up for discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the South Coast Improvement Association set for Saturday evening at Hotel Laguna. Offerings by local musicians will feature the entertainment program.

Coupled with the zoning problem, inquiries brought out that opposing interests, those seeking restrictions on making boulevard frontage open to business and taking an opposite view, will be well represented at a special meeting of the Orange county planning commission set for next Saturday at 9:30 a. m., at the court house at which time a proposed zoning ordinance, limiting business zoning to four blocks in the Three Archers district, will be discussed.

A meter receiving attention at the hands of property owners is the need of replacing the water mains running from First avenue to Three Arch Bay district with cast iron pipe, this to insure long life of the water system and eliminating constant repairs incidental to the use of common steel pipe which as a result of soil conditions here runs through in about 10 years, it was learned. The question of furnishing certain facilities for the boulevard replanting project in connection with SERA labor will be discussed, was stated.

Norman Millicent. "The woman in the pink ermine is here," Millicent sees the woman, then follows her out. "What went goes to the chauffeur's quarters. The chauffeur is dead from a bullet wound."

"Now, SERGEANT MAHOEY takes charge of the case."

Over the telephone Mrs. Haggerty hears her husband has been kidnapped. She is warned not to inform the police.

Millicent tells Norman all she knows about what has happened. They locate a store where the whisky found in the car was sold. They go there to learn that the owner of the car be some signal that had been agreed upon. He took a key from his pocket, fitted it in the lock and went in.

Norman Hagg said grimly, "That seems to be all mixed up in this thing, and I'm going to pull him out of there by the collar and drag him down to the police station. . . ."

"No, no!" Millicent said. "We've got to get evidence. It's going to take something that we can use

Bob Caise jerked back the elevator door, entered the cage and a moment later the door slid smoothly closed.

"Norman Hagg said to Millicent, 'I'm going out and what's in that apartment.'"

"Do be careful," she cautioned. "We're going to get in," he said grimly, "And then what?"

"That," he told her, "depends on what we find."

He led the way down the cora bottle of Scotch was more than half empty, two syphons of water had been drained, and a bucket full of Anco had been taken from the electric box and, judging from the water in the bottom of the aluminum pan, some of the ice cubes had been allowed to melt. Two high ball glasses were on the sink, and by side. Their rims were stained and in one of them was a mixture of whiskey and water.

Norman Happ started a methodical survey of the ashtrays, inspected the various brands of cigarettes which had been smoked, segregated the white and the black lipstick on them, and those of white had no such color.

Phyllis Faulconer was rather shiftless housekeeper. She rarely opened the door of the closet, suddenly recalled with an expression of amazement, "Norman!" she cried.

away, his figure silhouetted against the light which flashed brightly over the elevator door. Millicent knew that at any moment Caise would raise his eyes and that he was bound to discover them. The corridor was not brightly illuminated, save for the area above the elevator shaft, anyone entering from the bright daylight would, of necessity, require a few moments to adjust his eyes to the dim illumination of the corridor.

It seemed to Millicent as though Caise, almost 19 minutes later, had just entered the corridor and wait there. We can find out just what was in this mysterious apartment. So strong was this curiosity that it wasn't until after she had entered the room and heard the door slam shut behind her that she realized she and Norman Hupp had feloniously broken into an apartment rented by a woman whom neither of them knew.

"Please be careful, Norman," she cautioned. "If we should get caught, they'd send us both to jail."

He reached her side in a startled gasp, caught her by the waist and said, "What is it?"

Even in the excitement of the moment she realized with a sense of satisfaction that his first concern was for her. His eyes were not on the interior of the door but upon her white, startled countenance.

"What is it?" he asked, "What startled you? Get back to me."

corridor. This was all that he could get them from being discovered.

There was a bend in the corridor some 20 or 30 feet beyond where they were standing, but there was no time for them to reach it. Millicent grasped Norman's arm and pulled him into a doorway—a questionable place of concealment, but infinitely better than standing in plain sight.

"Keep quiet," she whispered. "But he's going to walk right past us," Norman Hupp objected.

Although she realized the interval must have been shorter, when the door opened and Bob Calse stepped into the corridor.

He jerked the door shut with that sudden violence which characterized him when he was in a temper, and strode toward the elevator.

"He's mad as the devil about something," Norman Hupp said. "I know him well enough to know when he gets one of those fits of black rage."

"I'm in bad already, but there's no reason you should risk your safety."

He turned to flash her a reassuring smile. "Don't worry, Millicent, they won't catch us. If anyone comes in I'm going to start a fight. You make an escape while the fight's going on."

"Please don't!" Millicent pleaded. "Please take care of yourself, Norman."

"Forget it," he told her. "No one's come in yet and we can't be seen."

"No, no, silly," she told laughing. "There's nothing to worry about. Go to the closet. Just look there in the closet."

She nodded toward the dark interior.

For a moment he failed to serve that which she indicated. Then, as his eyes accustomed themselves to the darkness, he gave a quick intake of his breath.

"Good Lord!" he said. "That's it, is it? That's what I've been chasing."

"No, no! He's going to that room! He's going to Apartment 309," she cried.

The pair stood flattened against the doorway, hardly daring to breathe. But Caise was so preoccupied that he barely glanced down the corridor. He paused before the door of Apartment 309, hesitated a moment, then raised his hand

Millicent shuddered and said, "Surely you don't suspect that..."

"Don't ever fool yourself," he told her grimly. "I suspect Bob Caise of anything. Do you know what I believe? I believe there's a chance my father is being held prisoner right in that room."

"Why, Norman? Happi!" she said. "Do you mean to tell me look the place over and get out before anyone does."

He swept his arm about in an inclusive gesture. "Look around," he said, "and see what you can find. We want something that will give us a clew to the identity of the woman who has this apartment, and perhaps we can find some damaging evidence that will

MUNITIONS BARONS USE MANY WEAPONS IN FIGHT TO CONTINUE HUGE PROFITS

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The ammunition of the munitions industry includes lobbying, bulldozing, bribery, fake war scares, collusion, and political wire-pulling in high places.

Annual peacetime profit of the companies happen to hang their hats—some senators have been led to suggest.

The navy has cost $7,000,000,000 since 1920. Whether the nation got its money's worth, nobody knows. The navy has no way of learning production costs from the private companies which lobbied naval building programs through Congress.

"Nearly all the navy's ships are built by the 'Big Three'—the New York, Newport News, and Bethlehem companies. Theoretically, they bid competitively—as the law requires—on each cruiser, destroyer, or other warship authorized by Congress.

But, actually, evidence indicated intimate relationship among the 'Big Three.' Consultation before bids was shown. Laurence R. Wilder, former president of New York Ship, once handed John P. Frey of the A. F. of L. a correct sealed list of the companies which would get awards for certain ships—10 days before the bids were opened.

WIELD VAST POWER

Real headquarters of the War Department is at the duPont plant in Wilmington, and the navy's is in whichever hotel room officials of the 'Big Three' shipbuilding companies are in.

the four war years reached 400 per cent. Charges of "strike" and "holdup" in wartime were also made against steel, copper—whose profits ran from 50 to 800 per cent—and other industries.

New York Ship reported taxes of $2,941,627 for 1918-21. Internal revenue agents insisted the treasury had $14,561,000 coming. Final settlement in 1928 was for $5,705,000.

PLAY DEEP GAME

The initial evidence last fall showed, among other things, how:

American munitions makers "greased" South American statesmen who signed contracts, played them off against one another in inspired armament races, maintained expensive lobbies in foreign capitals, and sometimes stirred up suspicion and strife.

Despite the Versailles treaty, United Aircraft sent millions of dollars' worth of airplane engines to a rearming Germany. Patents and licenses were freely exchanged between armament makers and foreign governments and the War Department helped the duPonts arm Japan.

The committee is by no means through. It has more recommendations to make and meanwhile is about to reveal what the Morgans, Guaranty Trust Company, and other financial interests were doing before and during the war.

CHICKEN THIEVES CARRY OFF 25 HENS

Chicken thieves again became active in Orange county last night, when 25 hens were stolen from the Wingard ranch at corner of Magnolia and Lincoln avenues, west of Anaheim, according to report filed today with the sheriff's office.

Eleven leghorns, four barred rocks, and 12 Rhode Island Red hens were taken, according to the report. The chickens were carried southward through an orange grove and loaded into a truck on Lincoln avenue, it was learned.

The barking of a neighbor's dog was taken as evidence that the theft occurred about 10:30 o'clock last night.

By DAN THOMAS, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 7. — Instruments used by present day pirates off the coast of Asia to torture their victims will be seen on the screen for the first time when "China Seas" is released. One of the most vicious of these implements is a wooden boot lined with spikes. It is tightened on the foot of the victim with clamps. Clark Gable is subjected to this torture in the picture—minus the spikes, of course.

Exchange Ships 261 Cars Valencias In Five Weeks

CONDITIONS IN FRUIT MARKETS ARE DISCUSSED

Shipment of valencia oranges for the last week in March and the month of April in 1935 through the associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit Exchange amounted to 261 carloads, eight cars of which were sold through the Los Angeles Distributing Plant facilities and 253 cars were moved to export and domestic markets.

This report was released today by Clarence Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit Exchange, who returned recently from visiting the Eastern markets. He reported that lemon shipments for the month of April amounted to 70 cars, which makes the total shipments to date of this variety to 190 cars.

Florida Estimates

Estimates of the amount of fruit remaining in Florida as of April 28 totals approximately 2200 cars. This compares with an actual movement last year of 3420 cars after the same date. Florida shippers are expecting to move the balance of their shipments by around June 1. Returns on Florida citrus have been seriously affected due to the large quantity of frozen fruit being placed on the market with the inevitable consumer reaction.

An allocation of 150 cars has been given to navel shippers this week which will permit the clean up of Southern California navels. The estimate of the 1935 valencia crop for the states of California and Arizona as taken by the California-Arizona prorate committee stands at approximately 54,600 cars which is 63 per cent greater than last year and 31 per cent larger than the next largest shipments of valencias on record. This estimate, of course, is tentative and is subject to revision from week to week as the season progresses.

"There is a general feeling that business conditions are about the same to just a shade better than a year ago," Mrs. Skiles said. "This statement is made realizing that there are around 22,000,000 people on relief at the present time which is around 20 per cent more than at the same time last year. It is, however, apparently a fact that the masses have a little more money than a year ago, this no doubt is accounted for at least to a very large extent by the various relief projects that have been in effect during the past year."

Reports On Fruit

"The condition of the peach crop in the 10 southern peach states as of April 1 averaged 73.2 per cent, or slightly less than the 73.7 per cent condition reported as of April 1, 1934, and 6.6 points above the 66.6 per cent average condition for the nine-year period, 1924-1932. Conditions were about average, or above, in all these states except Arkansas and Florida.

"The condition of the crop as reported in the states east of the Mississippi river, which include the two heaviest producing states, were fairly uniform and unusually good. In North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia the bloom has been heavy and the set of fruit good. Orchards have been well cared for and are in good condition. Winter and spring weather conditions in the Southern states have been favorable and insect damage negligible so far.

Northern Crop Short

The deciduous crops of the Northern states is reported to be somewhat short, and it is believed that the cold weather of about two weeks ago may have frozen the bloom on peaches, apricots and early cherries causing at least slight losses of fruit. This will in all probability mean that competition from deciduous sources will be very much heavier than it was last season, when the crop was very light and with extremely warm weather which made it very difficult to get the regular soft fruits to the consumer in such condition as would give him any degree of satisfaction.

"At the present time it looks as though the crop of melons would

START TO BUILD FIRST HOUSE HERE UNDER FHA

APPROVE LOAN FOR HOUSE AT 623 EASTWOOD

What is believed to be the first application approved by the Federal Housing Administration for the construction of a new home in Orange county under Title II of the housing act has been approved for building a residence in Santa Ana, it was learned today.

The new home is being erected at 623 Eastwood avenue by Howard C. Renshaw, an employee of the Barr Lumber company. Foundation for the house already is laid and the framework is going up.

A loan of $2500 was secured by Renshaw through the Commercial National Bank of Santa Ana, with A. C. Hasenjaeger, executive vice president, arranging details of the application for the loan.

The owner pays five per cent interest on the loan, with one-half per cent for a service charge. Another half per cent goes to the mortgage insurance fund, which is returnable to the borrower in case it is not used up.

Renshaw will pay just under $40 a month on the house for a little under 20 years. This monthly payment includes insurance, interest, payments on the loan and taxes. There are no heavy months when taxes and other payments come due. All monthly payments are equal.

Estimated value of the improvement on the property is about $4000. The house will be of the most modern type, a six-room stucco dwelling with a two-car garage. The house will have a wood shingle roof, basement furnace, heatilator in the fireplace, oak floors throughout, mahogany woodwork trim, many built-in features and tile floor and wainscot in the bathroom.

The Barr Lumber company is furnishing material for the building.

Boys Like Custodian At School

BY ED VELARDE

For approximately seven years, Custodian S. W. Palmer of the Santa Ana high school gymnasium has seen athletes come and go. During that time he has made many friendships which this amiable and well-liked man enjoys and treasures.

There is not a high school boy who does not know "Sam," as he is better known. For it is Sam that listens with fatherly patience to schoolboys' complaints of this or that. Not only does he have a paternal influence, but is like "one of the boys."

Mr. Palmer finally decided to submit to my questioning after your correspondent was informed not to expect too much. This is what I found:

When a high school lad, Sam went out for all the sports that were available, which were many. He excelled in baseball, playing fielder and catcher. "I changed my mind about playing catcher, when my hands couldn't take the beating to which they were subjected," he said with a smile. "I played on the El Paso high school nine, but we couldn't produce a banner team because of the lack of competition," he continued.

Somewhat of a prodigy was Mr. Palmer, too. At six years of age he learned to swim without coaching. But it was while serving in the navy that he acquired the skill that he now possesses.

The sport that he liked (and likes) best is football. Although he was too light for effective playing, Mr. Palmer was no mean player. It was in the capacity of custodian during the "Oliver era" of football that Sam made many everlasting friendships. There was "Toys" Plower, Larry Lutz, "Porky" Bell, Floyd Montgomery, Allen

Beauty Shop To Open Tomorrow In New Building

Warren F. Vieira, well known barber and beauty shop proprietor, today announced the opening of Vieira's Modern Beauty Salon and Barber Shop at 715 North Main street, Santa Ana, tomorrow.

The formal opening will be held from 3 until 5 p. m. tomorrow, with no service available on the opening day. The new shop will feature the Combo Ringette permanent and Paris Luxury cosmetics.

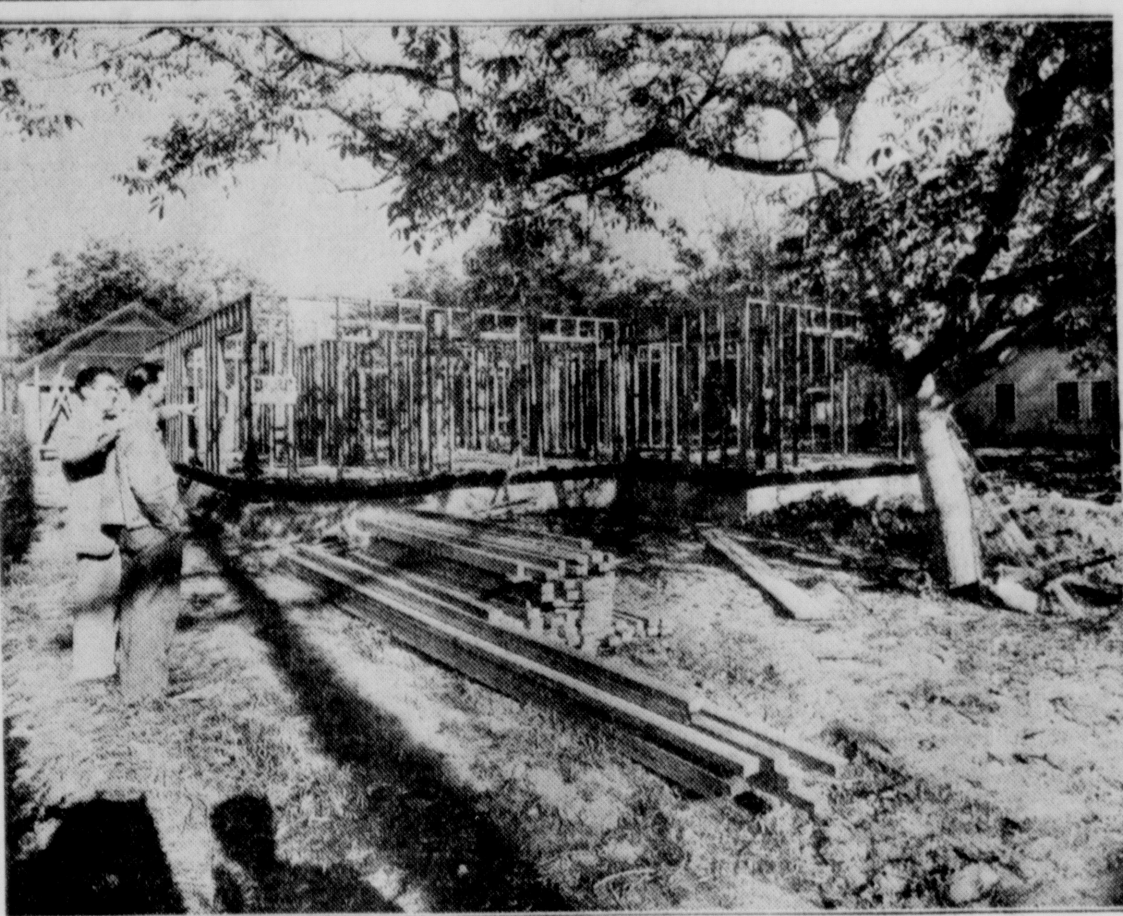

The beauty and barber shop is in the new modern Goodcell building, one of the most attractive and unique buildings in the city. The front of the store was made unusually attractive with installation of marble frontwork.

WESTMINSTER, May 7.—Eighteen Boy Scouts of the Westminster troop and their Scoutmaster, Francis J. Dell, enjoyed a week-end outing at the new Boy Scout camp at Irvine park. Upon the return Sunday, Mr. Dell, Jord Sork, Mrs. India McDaniel and Ned Clinton brought the boys and their bikes home in their cars. Several Scouts passed their tracking tests when they took a hike with Billy Clinton in charge.

Those on the trip were: Billy Hanline, Billy Pullen, Herbert Day, Bob Harding, Merton Snow, Eugene Davies, Dick Miller, Dale Hell, Burton Jones, Kenneth Slonecker, Billy Clinton, Gordon Sork, Lemuel McDaniel, Leon Thompson, Morris Holly, Earl Tretton, Harvey Arnett, Clayton Murdy, Francis J. Dell.

INSPECT FIRST FHA HOUSE HERE

Wilbur Barr, below, chairman of the Federal Housing Administration committee in Santa Ana, is pointing out the many features of a new home being erected for Howard Renshaw, also shown below, at 623 Eastwood. Barr was in a happy mood because of the fact that the home being built for Renshaw is believed to be the first house in the county to be erected under the FHA program.

ANNUAL JAYSEE FIESTA DRAMA ON MAY 10, 11

Presenting Allan Langdon Wayne's three-act play "Smilin' Through," Harriett Abrams will be starred in the double role of Moon-yeen and Kathleen when Santa Ana Junior college drama department under the supervision of Ernest Crozier Phillips gives its annual Fiesta play May 10 and 11 in the Willard auditorium, 1620 North Ross street.

John Henderson also will play a dual role, that of Kenneth Wayne, Kathleen's lover, and Jeremiah Wayne, Arthur Coleman will portray the part of John Carteret, Kathleen's uncle. Nelson Rogers, as Dr. Owen Harding, will play the part of Carteret's friend. The part of Willie Ainley, family acquaintance, will be done by Sam Gosney. Ella, the maid, will be played by Frances Hammontrout.

In the prologue, the part of Mary Clare, mother of Kathleen, is taken by Agnes Brady, and Margaret Ellen Sawyer does the role of Sarah Wayne, Kenneth's mother. "Smilin' Through" is a story of love frustrated by a family quarrel. Each act is played in a different historic period, but with scenes laid on the lawn of an English country house. The first act occurs just prior to the World war in 1914, the second shifting back to 1864, and the third advancing to post-war times in 1919.

Music during the action behind scenes will be played by a stringed ensemble under the direction of Phillip Hood.

CLASS SOCIAL TONIGHT

WINTERSBURG, May 7.—The adult Sunday school class taught by Mrs. Joe Thompson will meet at the Methodist social hall tonight for a party. Mrs. D. Wood, president of the class and Mrs. T. J. Holt, the secretary, will be in charge of the evening's activities.

LOST FAT Because She Heeded Doctor's Advice

And Didn't Listen To Gossiping Neighbors!

Mrs. H. H. Long of Clarinda, Iowa writes: "Kruschen was recommended to me by my doctor. Weight when starting was 226. Weight now after 3 jars is 208. Doctor says I'm doing fine."

When Kruschen Salts is prescribed by reputable physicians to safely take off fat and greatly improve health—why listen to gossipers who don't want you to be slender? Envious!

Have a mind of your own—get a jar of Kruschen to-day (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle). Take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water very morning—tastes fine with juice of half lemon added. If you don't lose 12 lbs. and feel years younger—money back.

Buffet Supper Guests Discuss Various World Travels

That charm of informality which distinguishes entertaining in the William H. Spurgeon home, 1617 North Main street, was strongly apparent Sunday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon brought together a group of close friends for a buffet supper as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Alan A. Revell.

Such a brief time is elapsing between the recent marriage of Mr. Revell and Mrs. E. W. Spurgeon, and their early summer departure for a rambling tour of the British Isles, that friends are seizing every available moment to show their interest in the romance and in the summer travels planned.

Much of the conversation of Sunday night revolved around travel experiences abroad, for the majority of those present had visited various out of the way corners of the globe. So the buffet supper was enjoyed to the accompaniment of informal chat, of "ships and shoes and sailing wax, of cabarets and kings", but especially of ships.

Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon were joined for the occasion by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Rice III of Santa Monica, their honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Revell; Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Wellington, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Emrys D. White.

Nurses' Association Elects Officers

According to unanimous decision of members of Private Duty section, California Nurses' association, officers who have served the section so capably during the past year will be retained for the coming year. They are: Miss Helen Anderson, chairman; Miss Eva Rensland, vice chairman; Miss Lydia Neumeier, secretary-treasurer.

This decision was reached at the May meeting of the section, held in St. Joseph's hospital with Sisters of St. Joseph as hostesses. Dr. H. W. Newkirk addressed the group as speaker on the subject of "Crossed Vision." He advocated corrective treatment of children before the age of six years, declaring that this made more certain the saving of the patient's sight. Lantern slides were used in illustration.

In the hostess group were Sisters Mary Elizabeth, Carmelita, Leo Paul, Damien, Mary Colette, Marie Blanche and M. Emene, while others present were the Misses Anne Timmons, Harriet Ayers, Edith Tedford, Mabel Reid, Elnette Isabelle, Lena Neumeier, Betty Swanson, Gladys Neff, Helen Anderson, Beulah Wilson, Leone Wunderlich, Mesdames Mabel Grouard, Flore Phelps, Ann Stolpe Lockhart, and one visitor, Miss Helen Wunderlich.

New Officers Elected at D. A. R. Chapter Meeting

Election of officers was of chief importance when Santa Ana chapter D. A. R. met Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, 725 Mortimer street. Mrs. J. H. Nicholson was named regent to succeed Mrs. Henry W. Guthrie.

Others elected were Mrs. Jennie Crawford, vice regent; Mrs. John Backus recording secretary; Mrs. H. R. Neill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mabel Larriek, treasurer; Mrs. Cotton Mather, registrar; Mrs. O. S. Catland, historian; Mesdames H. W. Guthrie, Willard Goddard, Alice Hill Hatch, E. G. Warner, advisory board.

An amendment to the by-laws proposing a change in the regular meeting date from the first Saturday to the fourth Tuesday in the month, was presented. The issue will be voted on at the next meeting, June 1.

Mrs. Mona Summers Smith presided over the program, reviewing "Valley Forge" (Maxwell Anderson).

Hostesses were Mesdames J. H. Metzger, J. W. Simpson, W. H. Harrison, M. J. Eaton, Jesse Albright, G. M. Bradley. Flowers and tapers brightened the table where tea was served by Mrs. John Clarkson and Mrs. W. H. Harrison.

Bride-Elect Inspires Shower In Charles Snyder Home

Miss Florine Pollock of this city, whose marriage to Glenn Feldner of Orange will take place in June, was incentive for a surprise shower given late the past week in the home of Mrs. Charles Snyder, 308 Wright street. The honoree's sister, Mrs. Robert T. Davidson of Sierra Madre, joined Mrs. Snyder as hostess at the event.

Low bowls of bright-hued flowers brightened rooms of the home. While bridge tables were being distributed, Miss Pollock was presented with a gardenia corsage set by her fiancé. Scoring high in the card games, Mrs. Roy Tulene was rewarded with a box of stationery.

Mrs. Merton MacLaren's second high score entitled her to a linen handkerchief.

The honor guest was called to the dining room, where she found a table piled high with packages. Guests had chosen burgundy glassware and pottery to add to sets already started by Miss Pollock.

Tables appointed in pink and white were utilized at the refreshment hour, when dainties served included individual pink and white bride's cakes.

Invited to share the affair with the hostesses, Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Davidson were Miss Pollock, her mother, Mrs. H. K. Pollock, and Mesdames Theron Willis, Merton MacLaren, Edward Story, Vioris Robison, Arnold Finster, Carl Lykke, Merrill Bauer, Stanley Goode, John State and the Misses Peggy Warburton, Marie Moog, Mary Louise Dierker, Imogene McCauley, Doris Bolles, Emma Williams, Wilma Zentner, Mabel Williams, Catherine Walbridge, Jane Arnold, Opal Brownlow, Marian Johnson, Margaret Sawyer, Audrey McDonald, all of Santa Ana; Mesdames Roy Tulene, Alex Chastain, Clyde Feldner, Clifford Brown, W. F. Feldner, Kemper Anderson and the Misses Eulabelle Smith and Catherine Hull, Orange; Miss Edna Forbes, Santa Barbara; Mrs. Richard Miller, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Curtis Yoller, Inglewood; Mrs. Glenn Casey, Whittier; Mrs. C. J. Valente, Laguna Beach; Miss Jeanette Bodman, Newport Beach; Miss Bernice Spears, San Diego; Mrs. Hugh Van Hoy, Lomita; Miss Virginia Pollock, Santa Paula.

Party at Westminster Honors Local Couple

Mrs. Anna B. Aiken and W. F. Nielsen of this city, whose marriage will be an event of the near future, were complimented Sunday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower given in the Westminster home of Mr. Nielsen's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hauptmann.

The shower followed a family dinner party at which the Hauptmanns were hosts. Arrival of additional guests for a shower had been arranged to surprise the engaged couple.

Three of the guests formed a mock bridal party. They were Miss Violet Nielsen as the bride, dressed in the wedding gown of her mother, Mrs. Emma Nielsen of Orange; George Rathke as bridegroom; Miss Vera Jean Nielsen, flower girl. They brought in shower gifts which guests had brought for Mrs. Aiken and her fiancé.

The hosts served a buffet supper at 6 o'clock. More than 40 guests were present for the event.

Chapter Members Pay Tribute to Their Mothers

Paying tribute to their mothers, members of Chapter AB F. E. O. held a luncheon and program yesterday afternoon at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe. Hostesses were Miss Mary Wakeman and Mrs. F. C. Rowland.

Mothers honored were Mrs. Mary Brownlee, accompanying her daughter; Mrs. T. H. Dunning; Mrs. J. E. Norton, mother of Mrs. Alice Peterson; Mrs. C. F. Crose, mother of Mrs. F. C. Rowland; Mrs. M. Nilsson, with her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Peck, with her daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Briscoe.

Luncheon tables were brightened with baskets of roses and snapdragons. There were corsage bouquets for the five honor guests. Holly Lash Visel provided a delightful musical feature, singing two German songs arranged by Liszt, "Der Lorelei" and "Du Bist Wie Eine Blume," accompanied by Miss Virginia Johnston.

Mrs. Visel sang the songs in German, first reading the English translations of the poems written by Helga.

Mrs. Susan B. Rutherford gave a talk on her recent travels thru Mexico and the West Indies.

Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, president, conducted a business interval. Arrangements were made for participation in the state convention to be held May 16, 17 and 18 at Sacramento, with Mrs. Stephenson attending as delegate from Chapter AB. Mrs. Rutherford and Mrs. E. S. Morrow are others who plan to attend.

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon
Salad Plate:
1/2 cup sliced string beans
1/2 cup tomato
6 radishes
1 celery heart, diced
1/4 head lettuce
Mineral oil French dressing
2 slices zwieback, heated Clear tea with lemon
(use saccharin in place of sugar)
Calory total—152.

Hot rolls, buttered toast, or 100 per cent whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches should replace the zwieback if other members of the family lunch at home. Use regulation French dressing in place of the diet dressing, give them a choice of beverages and a simple dessert.

Please note: unless butter, jam, etc., are indicated in any diet menu, the calory total as given, does not cover them.

Orange Tea Biscuits
Grated rind of 1-2 orange Juice of 1 whole orange Cube sugar
2 cups ready-mixed biscuit flour

Milk
Melted butter
Prepare the biscuits from the convenient ready-mixed biscuit flour, using uncreamed milk for mixing. Roll out, cut and arrange on a buttered pan. Dip a lump of cube sugar in the orange mixture and press one lump into each biscuit. Bake in a fast oven (400 degrees) for 10-15 minutes, brush with melted butter as soon as the biscuits are taken from the oven.

Rice Muffins
3/4 cup cold boiled rice
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted fat
1 egg well beaten
1 cup sweet milk
2 cups flour sifted with 3 scant teaspoons double action baking powder

Whip egg, add milk, sugar, salt, melted fat and rice. Sift flour with baking powder, once, then again as the flour is quickly mixed with the wet ingredients. A quick hand and light mixing is the rule for good muffins. Have the muffin in the hot and well oiled, fill half full of batter and bake in a fast oven about 10 minutes.

The recipe makes 18 muffins; approximate calory value of one muffin: 85 calories.

Corn Meal Pancakes
2 cups corn meal
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/2 cup coffee cream
2 eggs, whites beaten to a stiff froth
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder dissolved in 1 tablespoon hot water

Put cornmeal into mixing bowl, stir briskly while the hot water is poured slowly into the meal, then add the coffee cream and whip with the salt, sugar and egg yolk. Stir in dissolved baking powder and whip in the well frothed whites. Bake on hot griddle, oiled with a bacon rind, or lightly oiled with a pastry brush.

Sunday Barbecue Hosts Announce Engagement of Daughter

Inviting a group of relatives and friends to their home at Talbot Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Callens gave special importance to the occasion by announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bernice Callens, to Alfred Friedrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Friedrich, of Oxnard.

The hosts had planned a barbecue dinner to be served at midday but gave it a certain touch of formality by serving in the big dining room where the table was beautifully decorated in pink and white. Sweet peas were the flowers used, and nut cups and other decorative details were in the same color harmony.

It was with the pouring of coffee for the dessert course that Mr. Callens announced the betrothal of the young people.

The news came as a surprise to all but the immediate families, and Miss Callens was the center of interest as she donned her handsome solitary engagement ring for the first time. Her father and mother recognized the important event by presenting her with a cedar chest for her trousseau.

Music, chat and informal card playing sped the afternoon for the merry group which included in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Callens and their son and two daughters, Joe Callens and the Misses Irene and Bernice Callens.

Mr. and Mrs. Friedrich with their three sons and a daughter, Alfred, Ignatius, Vincent and Miss Gertrude Friedrich, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Callens and children, Irene and Andrew, of Oxnard; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schreiner and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gabaston of Ventura; Mr. and Mrs. Remie De Jonghe, Mrs. Adolph Callens, the Misses Agnes, Anita, Angela and Andrea Callens and Girard Callens, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Callens, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Callens and son George; Miss Mary Lagler, Rene Lagler, Mr. and Mrs. G. Gilber and daughter, Ida; Mr. and Mrs. Anton Borchard and children, Vincent, Bernice, Wilma and Anita; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Giesler and children, Harry and Betty, of this community.

Seventh Birthday Happily Celebrated

Little Miss Rosemary Boose's seventh birthday was celebrated Saturday afternoon with a party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Boose of 1526 East 17th street.

The afternoon was spent playing merry games on the lawn, and prizes were won by Roy Hull, Rosalee Ward, Barbara Boose and Frederick Boose. The little guests were then seated in a circle around Miss Rosemary who opened her many lovely gifts.

At four o'clock the little folks were led to the dining room which was decorated in pink and white. In the center of the table was a pink May-pole with streamers which led to dolls posed at the places and given as favors to the small guests. A beautiful birthday cake with its seven candles, was served with ice cream, nuts and candy. A second delicious cake had been baked by Mrs. Caulfield and brought as a gift to her little cousin.

Mrs. Boose was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Gladys Vest, and by her cousin, Mrs. Bernice Caulfield of San Gabriel.

Those present in addition to the birthday honoree were Roy Hull, Frank McDowell, Shirley McClure, Avis Marie Tallon, Wilmae Whisenand, Rosalee Ward, Eddie McCammet, Barara Boose, Frederick Boose, Joan Walworth, Emily Shepherd, and the little brother of the home, George Boose, all of Santa Ana, Kathleen Heed of Long Beach; Betty Lee Cayfield and Jimmie Caulfield of San Gabriel.

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Albright, 715 South Sycamore street, have returned from a two weeks' visit in Berkeley with their son and daughter-in-law, the Harold L. Albrights and their small daughter, Barbara Jeanne. There were many social affairs planned for their entertainment, and two interesting trips, one to the top of Mount Diablo and the other to the Russian River country. Mr. and Mrs. Albright drove over the Ridge route and returned the coast highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Hays Jr., 2420 Santiago avenue, had as weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hays of San Marino. The two couples attended the Tux and Gown club dance.

Dr. and Mrs. Merrill W. Hollingsworth and small son Stuart, 2442 Riverside Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burke of Panorama Heights, have returned from a desert weekend spent at Twentynine Palms.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rogers and daughter, Miss Phyllis Rogers, of San Diego, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kuhl, 605 Garfield street.

A group of Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, accompanied by Warren K. McCarty, returned Sunday evening from a trip up the north fork of the San Gabriel river. In the party were Jim Brady, David Martin, Melvin Stigers, Ross Howe, Mack Miller, Lowell Miller, Dan Pinnix, Carl Downs, Warren K. McCarty Jr. A visit was made to the new Morris dam and Crystal lake, after which a hike was made over the pass between Mt. Islip and Mt. Hawkins. Here, at an elevation of 7500 feet, the boys encountered a great deal of snow. It is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Andrews, 941 West Camille street, were hosts at a weekend party in their cottage on Alvarado street, Balboa Beach. Completing the group were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Weston, 1329 Orange avenue, and Miss Helen Blanche Andrews, Miss Phyllis Herke, Thomas Craddy, Del Bert Beard.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Thrasher, 1312 South Flower street, have as houseguests, Mr. Thrasher's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs.

CALLING CARS BACK ON KREG THIS EVENING

How the greed of an adventurer, who went through her husband's $25,000 fortune in three years, ultimately drove her to commit murder and cunningly devise an alibi, is dramatically told in the current chapter of "Calling All Cars" on KREG tonight at 7:30, a presentation of the Rio Grande Oil company.

Bearing the title of "The Corpse in the Cellar," tonight's case was drawn from the records and files of the Los Angeles police department. The story opens in Denver, Colorado, but quickly shifts to Los Angeles as young Mrs. Mildred Spaulding (fictitious name used for obvious reasons) leaves her now bankrupt husband. The stirring drama, written by Bill Robinson, and favored with atmospheric music under the direction of Frederick Stark, recounts in swift, sweeping movements the experiences of the woman, the slaying of a wealthy landlord, her subsequent apprehension, conviction and imprisonment for one of the most cold, premeditated crimes in the annals of Southern California police history.

Chief of Police James E. Davis will speak briefly, introducing the factual music-drama.

Charles Frederick Lindsey will be heard as narrator.

STRANGE ROMANCES UNDER SEA ON AIR

Strange romances that occur among the fish of the sea and of rivers and streams will be related in tomorrow's broadcast of "Romance Under the Water" as prepared by United States Commissioner of Fisheries Frank T. Bell and scheduled at 11 a. m. from KREG.

"No 'Believe It or Not' column was ever more interesting or baffling than the stories of reproductive processes studied by the bureau of fisheries," Commissioner Bell said. "In addition to the amazing characteristics of fish reproduction, a great lesson may be learned of the actual wonders of nature," he stated.

The "Romance Under the Water" broadcasts are scheduled from KREG each Wednesday at the same hour.

With Francis White, James Melton, John Barclay and Theodore Well heading the cast, the Palmolive Beauty Box theater will present "Blossom Time" for the second time over KFI at 6 tonight.

"Millions for Mars: The Low-Down on the High Cost of Living," will be the topic for the second broadcast in the new series entitled "More For Your Money" and addressed to consumers of the nation under the auspices of the National Consumers' committee of the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education, over KHJ at 6:45 tonight.

Charles "Chic" Sale, famous vaudeville humorist, will be Ben Bernie's guest at the Old Maestro's broadcast over KFI at 8 tonight.

That most inquisitive of radio narrators, "The University Explorer" will attempt to satisfy the curiosity of the average man and woman as to the nature and significance of "Heavy Water" when he speaks over KHJ at 9:30 tonight.

WEDNESDAY
"Tropical Fruits in Florida" will be investigated, tasted, and commented on by the traveling Hamilton family during the American School of the Air geography period at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday over KHJ.

Admiral William S. Sims, commander of the U. S. fleet during war, and Raymond Thomas Rich, director of World Peace Foundation, will talk on "How Can We Stay Out of War?" over KHJ at 4:15 p. m., Wednesday.

KREG CONTEST BRINGING MANY REPLIES DAILY

Interest in the "What Will Speed Prosperity" contest is evidently running high according to officials of KREG who stated that letters are being received from all parts of Orange county and adjacent counties in response to the "American Family Robinson" broadcasts announcing the contest.

Several cash prizes are being offered totaling $500 simply for best letters answering the question. Full details are given with each broadcast.

With "Windy" taking an active interest in the contest, an excellent demonstration of what not to write in a contest letter was given in the last broadcast. Flowery language and wording will not add a bit to the value.

The "American Family Robinson" is now heard on KREG each Tuesday at 8:45.

POPULAR HITS TO BE PLAYED BY COMPOSER

Popular hits of yesterday and today will comprise tonight's presentation of piano offerings by Mary Bridgewater-Hay, pianist-composer, on KREG at 7 o'clock for 15 minutes.

The popular tunes she has selected for tonight are those that have been outstanding during the time they were most popular several years ago. They include "All I Do Is Dream of You," "Sleepy Time Gal," "There's a Danger in Your Eyes, Cherie," "Lady of the Evening," "When Day is Done" and the more recent hit: "The Very Thought of You."

Mary Bridgewater-Hay is heard each Tuesday and Thursday at the same hour.

LIGHT CLASSICS ON WORKMAN PROGRAM

An informative lecture entitled "Science of Yesterday and Today," to be given by Dr. James Workman, and a presentation of favorite, light classics will be featured on tonight's "Keep Smiling" program to be presented on KREG at 6 o'clock by Doctors Workman.

"We are living in an age of rapid progress and of many discoveries," Dr. Workman said. "Some of the things to be included in my lecture tonight will be quite new to many and may even be surprising, but nevertheless they are scientific facts."

The favorite semi-classics will include Dvorak's "Carnival Overture," Opus 92, and "Salut D'Amour" by Elgar.

KREG NOTES

"Pioneer Women Orators of America: Abbey Kelley, the Bellenger" is the topic of tomorrow's U.S.C. history series broadcast to be made by Miss Doris G. Yeakam, fellow in speech, at 2:15 p. m.

Tonight's Ionizer health message will be broadcast from KREG at 6:45.

DRAMA CRITICS INCENSED OVER PRIZE AWARDS

NEW YORK, May 7.—(UP)—Announcement of the list of Pulitzer awards for outstanding American literature brought acrimonious discussion today among drama critics.

Chief of the dissenters was Clayton Hamilton, who resigned from the play committee last year because he could not agree with the committee's findings.

The principal controversy—as usual—surrounded the Pulitzer committee's award for "The original American play which best represents the educational value of the stage." It went to Miss Zoe Akins for her production, "The Old Maid," Josephine Johnson's "Now in November" won the fiction award.

Hamilton disputed the committee's decision on "The Old Maid" as being "in defiance of the conditions expressly stipulated by the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer." "The mountain has labored," he said, "and brought forth a mouse." Hamilton pointed out that the dramatization by Miss Akins of a novel by Edith Wharton.

"Miss Akins," he declared, "would very likely be the last to claim this is an original American play. The characters were created by Miss Wharton; the atmosphere was created by Miss Wharton; and the emotions and sentiments were worked out by Miss Wharton."

Cites Other Plays
Hamilton cited a list of other plays "forgotten" by the committee, and asked whether the judges "neglected to observe the singular triumph of the finest American play" of many years, "The Children's Hour."

Miss Akins' "The Old Maid" was received at its premiere with only mild mention by the critics, and some of the first-string critics failed to attend the opening. The Herald-Tribune critic said: "That Miss Akins' play is not all that it might have been, were it an original play written from the outset on this particular theme, goes without saying."

The Times critic commented: "It is difficult to decide whether the unconvincing acting or the truncated narrative is the main source of the disintegration."

The award for the best example of a reporter's work went to William H. Taylor of the sports staff of the New York Herald-Tribune. His stories were on the America's cup races.

Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, received the prize for the best correspondence on articles reflecting scenes in the nation's capital under the New Deal.

"Now in November," a first novel by Josephine Winslow Johnson, was adjudged the outstanding work in the field of fiction.

History Prize
The history prize was won by P. C. Charles McLean Andrews of Yale for "The Colonial Period in American History."

Douglas S. Freeman, editor of the Richmond, Va., News-Leader, was awarded the biography prize for his four-volume study of "R. E. Lee."

The Sacramento, Calif., Bee received the gold medal for the "Most interesting and meritorious service by an American newspaper." Articles written by Associate Editor Arthur Vaughn exposed the powerful Wingfield political machine in Reno, Nev. The newspaper received complaints against the nomination of Frank H. Norcross to the U. S. circuit court of appeals and Vaughn's articles led to a senate hearing and subsequent dropping of Norcross' nomination.

The best example of a cartoonist's work was by Ross A. Lewis in the Milwaukee Journal. It appeared Sept. 1 under the caption, "Sure, I'll Work For Both Sides."

No prize was awarded for the best editorial as none was deemed sufficiently distinguished. Audrey Wurdeman, wife of Joseph Auslander, won the poetry prize with her volume of poems, "Bright Ambush."

A scholarship in music, worth $1500, was awarded to Samuel Barber, New York. A similar scholarship in art went to Eileen Ortlip, Fort Lee, N. J.

Chemist May Try Life Revival Plan On Human Being

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—(UP)—Dr. Ralph Willard, swarthy young research chemist who has revived Guinea pigs after freezing them to death, today toyed with the idea of trying his amazing experiment on a human being.

Convinced he has found the secret of revivification, Dr. Willard announced he will perform the experiment on a dog and a monkey within the next few weeks, to prove further his theory. Later he may attempt to revive a man in whose body life has been stilled by freezing.

"Francis is the answer to my experiment," the quiet doctor said, his black eyes flashing. He pointed to a squealing Guinea pig, squirming around in a cage and apparently as healthy as any of its kind. The animal had been frozen to death after it had been frozen to life and kept "on ice" for four days.

BIRTHDAY PLANS MADE FOR DIONNES

CALLANDER, Ont., May 7.—(UP)—With the Dionne quintuplets fully recovered from head colds, preparations went forward today for celebration of their first birthday, May 28.

Welfare Minister David Croll, chief guardian of the babies, who were made wards of the king, has announced the week in which the quintuplets' birthday falls will be declared "adopt a baby" week in the province.

Croll said the purpose was to draw the attention of childless couples to the hundreds of orphaned children who were being brought up in children's shelters without benefit of parental love and training.

A district meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board will be held Thursday night at James' cafe, it was announced today. The affair will open with dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Arrangements have been made by vice president L. C. Nanney of the 12th district, to have as principal speakers of the evening David L. Montanna and Charles B. Shattuck, former chief appraiser for the Home Owners' Loan corporation. A large crowd is expected to attend.

Motorist Jailed On Liquor Count
FULLERTON, May 7.—Lester Parker, 21, of 212 North Lincoln avenue, Fullerton, yesterday was committed to jail for 31 1-2 days in lieu of paying a $75 fine for driving an automobile when intoxicated. He appeared before Judge Halsey I. Spence yesterday on the charge.

Parker was arrested Sunday in the 200 block West Commonwealth when the car he was driving was involved in a wreck with one driven by Edwin Wildman, of Compton.

Dan O'Hanlon, lieutenant governor, reported that he and Albert Sittion attended a meeting at Whittier Sunday to interest themselves in the placement of 13 boys from the Whittier state school in homes.

The Sacramento, Calif., Bee received the gold medal for the "Most interesting and meritorious service by an American newspaper." Articles written by Associate Editor Arthur Vaughn exposed the powerful Wingfield political machine in Reno, Nev. The newspaper received complaints against the nomination of Frank H. Norcross to the U. S. circuit court of appeals and Vaughn's articles led to a senate hearing and subsequent dropping of Norcross' nomination.

Besides the new pleasure of travel in AIR-CONDITIONED trains, the Santa Fe route permits the most interesting summer side-trips of any western line.

Only the Santa Fe enters Grand Canyon National Park. Our station, and the Harvey hotels—including the new Bright Angel Lodge and Cabins, open about June 1st—are grouped 7,000 feet up in the cool pines, on the very brink of the chasm. You may choose from 7 complete, all-expense, one-to-three day Grand Canyon Tours.

Historic Old Santa Fe, high up in the cool northern New Mexico Rockies, is another perfect Santa Fe Summer stop-over—with its charming La Fonda Hotel (by motor) through the picturesque Spanish-Indian country roundabout.

Those who have traveled in the clean, fresh comfort of a Santa Fe AIR-CONDITIONED car will tell you that here is the greatest contribution to journey enjoyment in 50 years. Air-conditioning means cool, filtered, even-temperated car air regardless of conditions outside on the motorways.

This summer Santa Fe will have in service over 375 air-conditioned observation, club and lounge cars, dining cars, chair cars, and standard and tourist sleepers!

Air-conditioning of Santa Fe trains is costing over $2,700,000—but not a penny of that great cost will be passed on to you, whether you travel with us in chair car, tourist sleeper, or drawing room. Instead, you will find this summer's Santa Fe fares and sleeping car charges the lowest in the long years we have served the Southwest.

ANNUAL GARDEN TOURS OF Y. W. GLENN MARTIN OPEN MAY 14 ROTARY TOPIC

Plans were completed today for the annual garden tours of the Y.W.C.A. at a meeting of directors of that organization today. The first tour is scheduled for Tuesday, May 14, from 1 to 5 p. m. The second tour will be Saturday, May 25, between the same hours.

There will be approximately nine gardens to be visited on the first trip with tea to be served, from 4 to 5 p. m. at the Hugh Gerrard home, 2009 Victoria drive. Different gardens will be visited on the second tour. The gardens to be included in the two tours have not yet been listed with the committee, under direction of Mrs. M. R. Wellington, which is in charge of the tours.

Programs listing the gardens will be supplied with the tour tickets which may be obtained from any member of the Y. W. C. A. members of the tour committee or directors of the organization.

Each garden to be visited on the tour will be marked by a flag. Following is a list of hostesses who will assist at the various gardens: Mrs. Ray Adkinson, Mrs. Franklin West, Mrs. Charles Swanner and Mrs. W. B. Williams.

The tea is being arranged by Mrs. Clarence Bond and Mrs. C. J. Smith who will be co-hostesses with Mrs. Gerrard. Mrs. Smith also is arranging a musical program to be provided during the affair.

Sponsors of the annual tour have announced that transportation will be provided for those who desire it. To obtain this transportation the Y.W.C.A. headquarters must be notified.

The pirate tried to wriggle loose, but shortly found it was no use. Then to the Tinymites he said, "Gee, tots, what have I done?"

"Real friends of mine I thought you were, but now you keep me prisoner. Perhaps this is a joke on me, but it is not much fun."

"Oh, no, you're wrong," wee Dotty cried. "As soon as we met you, you tried to make us little servants, and we don't like that one bit."

"The best thing that you do is think, while keeping all of us at work. We're lucky that we found a way to put an end to it."

"Our brave friend, Scouty, went away. We don't know how long he will stay, but when he comes back we'll decide what we will do with you."

"We hike around to see new things, and sometimes, real bad luck it brings. You've been a bit of our bad luck. You know that that is true."

Scouty, in the meantime, had crawled far away. He was real glad that he had had a happy hunch to free the Tiny hand."

"I'll find the old Ink man," he thought. "If he is still our friend, he ought to do whatever he can for us, to lend a helping hand."

"Gee, when he hears the pirate's been real cross, he'll be as mad as sin." Then Scouty reached the shoreline of the tiny little isle.

The mainland could be seen nearby. The lad then said, "Now I will try to cross the stream. I ought to do it in a little while."

From vines a lasso soon was made, and then his plans were calmly laid. He tied one end tight to a stump. "Here goes," he loudly cried.

The lasso sailed out into air and Scouty yelled, "Get over there and hook onto the little stump that's on the other side."

(Scouty crosses the stream in the next story.)

URUGUAY, Italy, Spain, and other countries display in stamps their regard for the most famous horse of Greek fable, the winged Pegasus. Said to have sprung from the trunk of the Gorgon Medusa, when her head was cut off by Perseus, Pegasus was caught by Bellerophon, but threw his rider on his flight to heaven. In heaven, Pegasus served Zeus, fetching thunder and lightning for the god of power.

Pegasus, therefore, is considered a symbol of the thundercloud, and also as a curse-horse, representing the speed at which curses were fulfilled. But more recent stories make Pegasus the horse of the Muses and symbol of poetry.

THE IMPLICATIONS OF THE RAIL-ROAD PENSION DECISION

The decision of the supreme court, declaring invalid the railroad employees' pension act, marks an important point in the progress of social legislation.

The division of the court, in the main, was the conservatives against the progressives and it was by the same close vote that the gold clause was upheld a few weeks ago.

The complete text of the opinion is not yet at hand, but there is sufficient news concerning it, so that we may know that the declaration rests upon the theory that the law was a violation of "due process."

We may also know that it was not in its purpose, or in its actual working out, a regulation of interstate commerce, under the constitutional provision concerning which the law was drawn.

We know it was maintained by the court that this law, or purported law, attempted to create new contracts between the employees and the employer; that it would give benefit to many employees of funds which were supposed, under the law, to come from contributions to which these particular beneficiaries would not have contributed.

In other words, it would have benefited some 145,000 men who would have retired before the law went into effect.

Senator Borah, himself an outstanding constitutional authority, remarked on the decision: "It is fortunate the court recognized again the principle that intrastate business still exists." It is well understood that congress could not enact any legislation that would affect public carriers, the business of which lay entirely within one state.

Such court decisions as this, rendering invalid attempts by congress to pass legislation of this character, are very necessary to the end that orderly progress shall be made.

It emphasizes anew that in democracy we are governed by law and not by the caprices or desires of men at any particular moment.

Again, state lines interfere with the desires of the representatives of the people in carrying out the wishes of what they believe to be the majority.

This particular attempt amounted to congress singling out a special group for this special help. And it was not on the ground of discrimination or partiality that the law was declared unconstitutional, because it is recognized that a public utility is that kind of a private business, coupled with such a public interest, which grants at once the power to the government a vast amount of supervision and direction over it.

It was at once suggested that a new bill, which would be valid, would at once be drawn and enacted, that would meet the approval of the court. But Justice Hughes says that the opinion is so sweeping that this probably cannot be done.

No, if the people are to achieve the ends sought by this bill, certain restrictions which are now on congress will have to be removed, and in due course, if there is sufficient demand from the people, these restrictions will be removed by an amendment to the constitution, regularly adopted.

We are glad that this cannot be done by a decree. Dictatorship would brook no interference from a supreme court.

A democracy, operating under a constitution, may be halted in accomplishing an immediate objective, but while that is true, the security of rights under that constitution are more valuable than any losses which are temporarily encountered.

And after all, democracy itself should not become greatly excited in the interest of one group. Like the rights of personal liberty, that of assembly and the enjoyment of the various institutions in our democracy, we should insist finally that legislation should have its benefits applied equally to all people.
We should demand that security and insecurity,
as far as possible, should be enjoyed and suffered alike, so that each may finally realize that the only way he can be really secure, is to assure that every other man is secure.

THEY CAME AND WENT

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States met in Washington last week. The delegates came and they went without seeing the President or hearing a word from him.

It has always been the custom, at the annual meeting of the chamber, either to have a message or an address from the President of the United States. This year a longstanding precedent was broken.

The reason for this was very apparent. The whole program of the administration was bitterly assailed.

Political enemies of the President were invited to the platform to express their opposition. Among them was Henry J. Allen, former governor and senator from Kansas, and an intimate friend of former President Hoover.

Under such circumstances, nothing but silence from the White House could be expected.
In the very nature of the case, the presence of the President on the platform would have been an embarrassment to him and to the chamber.

He could not have spoken without taking some notice of the criticisms made at the meeting, and that would have been undignified for one holding the highest office in the gift of the people.

It is a pity that some sort of an understanding could not have been arrived at between the President and the chamber, as was the case when the American Bankers' association met in Washington last fall. After all, there must be some relation between business and the administration.

Both are charged with high responsibilities.
The President must have a regard for all the people of the country.

As the representative of all the people, he can hardly be expected to please every group.

Business has a perfect right to differ with the administration in matters of public policy; but the condemnation of the administration and its policies was so general, and in some cases so bitter, that the delegates went beyond the bounds of decency in the matter.

No one but the most bitter partisan can hold that everything the administration has done is wholly bad. Many Republicans in congress have voted for the administration measures which the chamber condemned or criticized.

Ordinary courtesy called for some deference to the sincerity of the President, even where agreement was not always possible. We cannot but believe that the chamber has hurt itself with the masses of the people of the country, and that the President, in refusing to make a speech or send a message, has maintained his dignity and strengthened himself with the people.

WHITEY IS TO GET $50 A WEEK

Whitey is the Hollywood cat which has intelligence enough to do stunts in the movies.
Recently, Whitey made a contract with the management to continue on the job for $50 a week.

Now the question is, how much does Whitey get out of the contract? Is the poor kitty being exploited by its owner, so that it gets only its accustomed dish of milk and cat meat, while Whitey's owner gets the cream and the juicy steak? Or is the surplus beyond that required for Whitey's daily needs saved for Whitey's rainy day?

Of course, we do not presume to know anything about it. We just happened to note the bare statement of the contract in the news of the day, and it set us to thinking and wondering how much there was in it for Whitey.
Having a natural repugnance to exploitation of every kind, we were just curious to know all about it.

Whether Whitey is a lucky cat or not depends entirely upon its guardian. If it has a good guardian, Whitey will be an aristocrat in catdom. But if Whitey has an exploiting guardian, then it is no better off than the poor slaves who built the pyramids or who played the guitar in front of their little huts under the Southern moonlight before January 1, 1863.

At any rate, whatever Whitey gets out of it,
it is interesting to know of one cat that earns its own keep. And then, too, we wonder if Whitey, like the aristocratic cat, written about by a recent author, ever has a night out with the low-bred cats of Hollywood.

DE VALERA WILL NOT BE PRESENT

At the jubilee of King George V this week, there will be one vacant seat. President De Valera has announced that he will not be present because he does not recognize the British crown.

He calls Ireland a free and independent republic, owing allegiance to no one outside its borders. He has gone so far as to disown British citizenship.

To be thoroughly consistent, President De Valera can take no other position. His whole public policy is based upon a refusal to acknowledge the dependence of Ireland upon the British crown.

To share with the other members of the British commonwealth of nations in that jubilee would be to accept the authority of the British crown. This he will not do, either by definite assent or by implication.

Still it is unfortunate for the Irish people that such a separatist attitude has been taken by their government. As now constituted, the Irish Free State is as independent as Canada, South Africa, and Australia are.

There is no tie that binds it to Great Britain but the recognition of the crown, and the crown has absolutely no authority to interfere in any way in the domestic affairs of the Irish Free State.

The Irish people have more to gain by being identified with Great Britain than by being absolutely separate. But Irish pride must be sustained by the party of which De Valera is the head, no matter what it may cost in economic advantage.

Women—Practical and United

Christian Science Monitor

A wholesome frankly realistic attitude characterized the sessions of the conference of the International Alliance of Women for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship in Istanbul, Turkey. It had been suggested, said Mrs. Corbett Ashby, the president, that the conference be postponed until "happier days." "But," she protested, "those happier days will not rise of themselves inevitably as the sun rises; those happier days can only be the reward of ceaseless human endeavor, of ceaseless effort."
Visionary idealism, unsupported by hard work was clearly not in this program.

Not only the gains but the losses of the last six years were freely admitted. On the side of gains there were the winning of equal suffrage in Great Britain, Spain and Turkey; wide suffrage in Brazil, South Africa, Ceylon, Portugal, Siam, and Behar, India; and notable gains in municipal suffrage. In the United States, Chile and Finland, women have been admitted to the consular and diplomatic services. The Arab women's congress in Damascus, and the conference of the All-Asian women's movement were among other outstanding gains.

The losses were laid to two main causes—to the breakdown in international trade, which has led to legislation discriminating against women, and to attacks on the democratic ideal and form of government.

In the face of this situation, these women of five continents were united by a fine solidarity.
Delegates from East and West recorded their desire for close co-operation, pledging support, first to the women of the West "in danger of losing those political and economic rights which they have achieved," and second, to the women of the East, struggling for "the eradication of their special legal, social and economic disabilities in their respective national units."

This solidarity, with the recognition, so general at the conference, that women are much the same the world over, has mighty potentialities. But, as the president of the alliance said, it will require "ceaseless effort" to bring these into operation.

"WARE THE SWAN!"

The lion is fierce and pugnacious,
But caged he grows lazy and fat;
The bear in his den
Will now and again
Engage in a row or a spat.
If through the zoo you should wander
And stroll about hither and yon,
I'd advise you to flee
To the handiest tree
If you happen to meet with a swan.

This creature forever is angry,
He has always some grievance to nurse;
He will fight like a streak
With his claws and his beak,
And his long thrusting pinions are worse.
His delight is to chase little children
And hiss while they scream in dismay,
And now and again
It requires three men
To chase the fierce rascal away.

If you want to retain all your fingers,
Do not swing them around where he is;
His claws are as keen
As a moving machine,
And a terrible temper is his.
A ram is not kindly or gentle,
A bear raffish manners has got,
But just keep in mind
That of all creature kind
The swan can out-rough the whole lot.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Statesmen are burdened with many problems, most of which wouldn't exist if there were no statesmen.

Couldn't you get along as well or better if the government quit doing anything? Well, other people are equally smart.

It is easy to find a center of culture. Just look for a region that draws flies.

But if the public should pay damages for a lynching, why not for any other kind of murder?

Humane people agree that a man must be given work, at any cost, provided he is in prison.

"Triumph in death," says an epitaph. It probably means that he finally managed to quit smoking.

People don't respect a man because he's rich. They would respect his pile just as much if a Hottentot had it.

"The little red school house is disappearing," says Colliers.
Also the kind of men it developed.

AMERICANISM: Burning with zeal to reform other sections of the country; indifferently ignoring equal wrongs in our own section.

Science says a man becomes what he eats. We've often wondered how missionaries finally got the cannibals converted.
So an emergency justifies unjust laws? Well, it isn't a new idea. Germany used it on Belgium.

TO BECOME A GREAT ARTIST YOU JUST PAINT SOME PICTURES AND THEN STAY DEAD ABOUT 400 YEARS.

There can't be a revolution. Any group that gets mad enough to revolt can scare enough Congressmen to get what it wants.
Economic security wouldn't make people behave. Adam had it, and look what he did.

But if statesmen aren't superior, how can they think up a law that mere judges can't understand?

War: Young men fighting for a sacred principle to promote some rich crowd's interests.

Thoughts On Modern Life

WHAT EVENTS ARE TEACHING US

Events are rapidly making a few fundamental things clear.
Some of these things I have stressed again and again from the very outset of the depression, but today events have given them a convincing quality they may not have possessed earlier.

We are coming to see that there is no purely monetary rabbit in the hat that alone can bring a basic economic recovery to the country.

We are coming to see that the way out does not lie through too much trust in any artificial juggle-ing of the price level. The price level is important when other factors are wisely dealt with, but in the long run the price level must be not an artificially created thing but a reflection of a state of affairs in the production and distribution of goods and services.

We are coming to see that there is no magic in a general rise in prices unless that general rise does three fundamental things, viz:

(1) Unless it sets going activities that serve real needs.
(2) Unless it sets going activities that make for the maintenance of full employment of labor.
(3) Unless it sets going activities that make for a general rise in living standards.

Otherwise a general rise in prices artificially produced may actually prevent the serving of the most real needs of the people, restrict a full normal employment of labor and pull mass living standards down.

We are coming to see that in the main recovery that is to be real and permanent must come not through freezing or raising prices so much as by lowering prices through superior management so that vast new demands can be created.

We turn aside from these plain lessons of experience at the price of postponing genuine recovery.

A CHEAP FRIEND

Louise is a retiring girl, happier when people are not looking her way. She does fine work in school but rarely volunteers to take part in anything that goes on whether lessons or games. She is shy. In her heart she longs to shine, longs to be one of the attractive and dominant members of the class, but the instant the chance offers she withdraws.

The forward children, the leaders of the different groups, pass her by. "No use asking her," they never want to do anything. When committees are formed, invitations given, speeches arranged, Louise is by common consent left out. "She wouldn't go. What's the use in asking her."

In the class there is an underprivileged girl. Her home is on the outskirts of the town among the poorest. Her mother died and her grandmother keeps the house for the father and daughter. Not very intelligent, untrained and un-mannered, this girl had no companions until Louise elected to be her friend. The two are inseparable.

The association is bad for Louise. Rather than be alone she goes along with Cora. Cora talks slang, in a loud voice, salutes the passing boys and young men, cuts classes and goes to movies or takes motor rides with generous drivers.
Louise went along one day and the group were arrested. The driver happened to be "wanted" by the police and they took the girls along with him. Imagine Louise's feelings and those of her parents.

It was not difficult to explain to the police that she had no association with the man, or the girl friend Cora either, but it was very difficult to explain to the teachers and to the mothers of the neighborhood. A girl that is landed into such a predicament is not usually considered shy by the community.

Yet this is precisely why Louise got into this trouble. Loneliness drove her to select the easiest friends in the group.

Shy children suffer severely under their handicap. Their desires and wishes for free communication between themselves and the people about them are smothered in the choking fear that takes them by the throat the instant the opportunity for communication is offered. They look dumb, sulky, defiant and all the other unlovely things shyness breeds. No other child wears so deceptive a mask

as this shy child.

If you have to deal with a child who retreats from the group, if you find that he is selecting the cheapest among his associates, by cheap I mean spiritually cheap, consider this idea well. Maybe the fear of speaking out loud, maybe the dread of standing out as the target for criticism, maybe some physical difficulty such as vision or hearing or speech defects make him dread to attract attention. Deal gently with him. Study him to discover the cause of his shyness and fear and do what you can to cure it.

Discipline never helps a shy child. Encouragement from helpful teachers, consideration from affectionate parents always helps.
